Finch, Carole Guilty; State To Ask Death

Doctor, Sobbing Girl Embrace After Verdict

3d Jury To Weigh Penalty April 3

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A third jury, reaching a verdict where two others deadlocked, Monday convicted Dr. R. Bernard Finch and his pretty mistress, Carole Tregoff, of the bullet-in-the-back murder of his socialite wife.

The prosecution said it will ask the death penalty—in the state's gas chamber—for both.

Finch, 43, took the verdict at first stonily, then with his face buried in his hands; Carole, 24, broke into tears.

When Carole's verdict was read, his face was reddened and tears welled in his eyes. He reached over and patted her shoulder, but she didn't immediately respond.

The jury of 10 men and 2 women, deliberating a little over 21 hours, convicted the once wealthy, suburban surgeon of first degree murder and his auburn-haired exceptionist of second degree.

It also found both guilty of conspiracy to commit murder—a crime punishable by death. On this basis, Deputy Dist. Atty. Clifford Crail said he would ask death for Carole as well as her doctor lover.

Her conviction of second-degree murder by itself, without regard to the conspiracy charge, carries a penalty of five years to life imprisonment.

Exchange Embraces

Carole and the balding doctor exchanged a tearful and tender embrace as they were being led out of the courtroom after the judge's final instructions to the jury.

Finch moved quickly to her side and put his arm around her waist. Sobbing, she rested her head on his left shoulder. He gently kissed her dyed hair.

They stood locked together a brief instant. Then Carole, her head down and her shoulders shaking with sobs, followed a woman sheriff's deputy from the courtroom.

Superior Judge David Coleman told the jurors to return to court April 3 to weigh their penalty verdict. He admonished them, meanwhile, not to discuss the case among themselves or with anyone else.

Under California law a jury that convicts a defendant of murder also sets the penalty.

Finch's wife, Barbara Jean, 36, was shot to death outside the couple's fashionable home in suburban West Covina the night of July 18, 1959.

Accident, Finch Claims

Finch and Miss Tregoff testified they had gone there to discuss a divorce with her. Finch said that his wife produced a pistol and that it discharged accidentally, fatally wounding her in the back, as he tried to throw it away.

The prosecution alleged the lovers committed cold-blooded murder to avoid sharing his wealth with Barbara in a divorce settlement.

Coprospector Crail, running a gantlet of reporters and photographers in the courtroom, said: "This restores my faith in the jury system. This—the guilty verdicts—should have happened in the first trial."

Youngish-looking Maxwell Keith, who took over Finch's defense for the third trial, said glumly: "I'm terribly disappointed with the verdict. What more can I say?"

Keith said he'll fight Crail tooth and nail to keep Finch and Carole from going to San Quentin Prison's green-walled gas chamber.

Carole's handsome, wavy-haired attorney, Donald Briggold, walked briskly from the courtroom after the verdict. He answered reporters' questions with a tight-lipped, "No comment."

State Dept. Reports Missing U.S. Plane Shot Down In Laos

One Survivor May Be In Rebel Hands

WASHINGTON (AP) — The State Department reported Monday that the American plane missing in Laos was shot down over rebel territory and one survivor may now be in the hands of pro-Communist guerrillas.

There was no report that any of the seven other men aboard the ill-fated craft survived. The plane, an unarmed C47 transport assigned to the U.S. Embassy

Peel's Defense Winds Up Case

FORT PIERCE, Fla. (UPI) — Defense attorney Carlton Welch wound up his case Monday in the murder trial of Joseph A. Peel Jr. after testimony denying that Peel once boasted to a friend about getting rid of Circuit Judge C. E. Chillingworth.

Welch finished his case after presenting a number of documents in evidence, and with the stipulation he could present one more witness who was en route to Fort Pierce carrying statements about telephone conversations.

Prosecutor Phil O'Connell was waiting to put on the stand a group of rebuttal witnesses.

Peel, 37-year-old former West Palm Beach City judge, is charged as the mastermind in the murders at sea of prominent Judge Chillingworth and his wife, Marjorie, in June of 1955.

Wearing blue jeans and a striped sports shirt, Roy Harkness, 19, played the Son of God.

"The idea of Christ in blue jeans thrilled many viewers," said a spokesman for the Independent Television Authority. "Of course, there were others who complained."

Earlier, 17 members of the House of Commons offered a motion of protest in Parliament. But the play, "A Man Dies," went on. Viewers saw it during a regular Sunday night religious program aimed at youth.

Judas Iscariot, also wearing jeans, faced the camera just before betraying Christ and sang: "I want some money."

"I know where to get it, honey—I's gonner turn him in."

Many of the play's verses—especially written for teen-agers by the Rev. Ernest Marvin, minister of St. James Presbyterian church, Bristol—expressed the defiance of today's conventions by many youths.

The youth portraying Christ looked on while a girl, backed up by a rock 'n' roll band, sang the following in a loose calypso style: "Gentle Christ, wise and good: 'We nailed him to a cross of wood."

"The Son of God, he lived to save 'In borrowed stable 'And a borrowed grave."

Often the words of the play's many songs emphasized the present-day cynicism with biting attacks on selfishness and apathy. They nearly always extolled the virtues of Christianity—in the modern medium, of course.

SEATO Would Risk Conflict To Save Laos

France Only Pact Member Refusing To Back U.S. Stand

BANGKOK, Thailand (AP) — Foreign ministers of the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization warned Monday they are ready to make whatever sacrifices are necessary—including war—to prevent the Communists from capturing Laos. SEATO thus was mobilized as the West's military voice in a co-ordinated diplomatic dialogue with the Soviet Union.

All eight members of the anti-Communist alliance fell into line behind the United States except France, which shied away.

French Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville viewed the Laos situation as grave and his speech to the opening of the SEATO foreign ministers conference stressed the need for negotiation.

The stiff SEATO posture came as Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko met with President Kennedy in Washington.

Thursday "Deadline"

SEATO was described as ready to consider dispatching soldiers and weapons to Laos if the Soviets fail to choose a peaceful course in the neighboring kingdom before the conference ends here Thursday.

Informed sources said U.S. Secretary of State Dean Rusk came to the conference to sell this policy. The speeches of his fellow-foreign ministers on the first conference day indicated he had just about succeeded.

Rusk told the council "peace is possible only through restraining those who break it in contempt of law." He cited the Communist military threat in Laos and a campaign of terrorism by the Reds in South Viet Nam, and said SEATO has an obligation "to assist the peoples of Southeast Asia in their fight for freedom."

"Speaking for my country," he continued, "I wish to assure the members of this organization and the peoples of Southeast Asia that the United States will live up to those responsibilities."

Home Takes Tougher View

Many in the audience felt that an even tougher view of SEATO objectives was outlined by British Foreign Secretary Lord Home whose country has been taking the lead in pressing Moscow for a cease-fire and negotiations on Laos.

The British foreign secretary said SEATO so far had acted with restraint.

"Because civilized countries feel obliged to try to find a political and peaceful solution, I must give a warning that the Communists would be extremely foolish to presume too much on this restraint. SEATO is properly reluctant to use force but should it decide to do so, it is able to draw upon tremendous resources," he added.

Belgian Leader Quits In Defeat

BRUSSELS (UPI) — Social Christian Premier Gaston Eyskens resigned Monday after suffering a stinging defeat in nationwide parliamentary elections. The move plunged Belgium into a new government crisis with no quick solution in sight.

The former economics professor who has headed a coalition cabinet of his own Social Christians (Catholics) and Liberals since June, 1958, handed his resignation to King Baudouin at noon.

The king accepted it and asked the Eyskens government to stay on in a caretaker capacity until a new cabinet can be formed.

Eyskens' government was defeated in Sunday's voting largely on international economic and political issues as well as deep national disappointment over the Congo disaster.

Eyskens' blame' his downfall largely on his unpopular economic austerity "gram that touched off a month-long wave of Socialist-led strikes last December and January. He said he had decided to quit even before the election.

D'Alesandro Confirmed

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate Monday confirmed President Kennedy's appointment of former Baltimore Mayor Thomas D'Alesandro Jr. as a member of the Federal Negotiation Board. The confirmation of D'Alesandro to the $20,000-a-year post was by voice vote.

Kennedy Plan For SS Boost Scaled Down

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The House Ways & Means Committee Monday approved a scaled-down version of President Kennedy's plan for higher Social Security benefits, including optional retirement for male workers at age 62.

The committee-approved bill would cut in half the payroll tax increase proposed by the President to finance bigger cash benefits for 3,675,000 people on the Social Security rolls.

Over the long run benefits under the committee plan also would amount to half of those Kennedy recommended. But during the early years of the measure, payments would be almost equal to Kennedy's proposal.

The committee directed Chairman Wilbur Mills, D-Ark., to incorporate its decisions in legislation to be introduced in the House later this week. The bill is expected to be called up for floor debate after the Easter recess.

The committee vote was 22 to 2. The 3,675,000 people who would receive the higher benefits represent about one-fourth of those on Social Security rolls. The increased payments would break down as follows:

—Cash benefits for widows of deceased workers would be raised 10 per cent, affecting an estimated 1,500,000 people. Kennedy proposed a 13 1-3 per cent increase.

—The minimum monthly benefit would be raised to $40 from the present $33. This would give increases of from 10 cents to $7 per month to 2,175,000 people. Kennedy wants minimum payments raised to $43 a month.

The committee approved without change the President's request that male workers be allowed to retire at 62 under permanently reduced benefits.

Portuguese Stone American Embassy

LISBON (UPI) — A mob of 20,000 Portuguese stoned the U.S. Embassy Monday and milled around outside the building waving anti-American placards and shouting hate slogans until police finally dispersed them two hours later.

The embassy's windows were shattered but there were no casualties reported. Arrests, if any, were not announced.

It was the latest and biggest in a series of anti-American outbursts both here and in Luanda, Angola, which resulted from the fact the United States voted with Russia in favor of a United Nations investigation of Portuguese rule in the African province.

Italian Extremists Blow Up Apartments

BOLZANO, Italy (AP) — Extremists blew up two government apartment buildings projects with heavy charges of dynamite Monday in a new outbreak of violence in Italian South Tyrol.

There were no casualties. The almost simultaneous, city-jarring blast in the provincial capital of Bolzano and nearby Merano appeared to mark the beginning of the serious terrorist campaign long threatened by a portion of the German-speaking population, dissatisfied by lack of progress in its campaign for local self-government.

Peace Hope Expressed By Gromyko

Speedy Acceptance Of Truce By Soviet Grows More Vital

By DOUGLAS B. CORNELL
WASHINGTON (AP) — Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko at a momentous White House conference Monday echoed President Kennedy's bid for a peaceful solution of the ominous crisis in Laos.

An air of hope, liberally laced with wait-and-see caution, seemed apparent after the hour-long talk.

Speedy Soviet acceptance of a cease-fire between the warring forces in the tiny, remote Southeast Asian kingdom became more vital than ever to peaceful easing of the situation there.

In even, carefully measured words, Kennedy laid that point on the line to the chief of the Soviet Foreign Ministry.

For his part, Gromyko laid heavy emphasis on cautioning Kennedy that there should be no overt action until the Soviet government has replied to a British proposal to bring an end to the civil war in Laos in two steps:

1. Imposition of a cease-fire policed by an international control commission.

2. An international conference to try for a permanent, peaceful settlement.

Khrush Retreat Indicated

Gromyko apparently was trying to head off any military intervention by the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization, whose foreign ministers opened a three-day session Monday in Bangkok, Thailand.

Kennedy and Prime Minister Harold Macmillan of Britain conferred Sunday at Key West, Fla., and reported what was described as "absolute agreement" on Laos. Although their brief communique didn't spell it out, it was generally assumed this meant agreement on military and other measures to be used jointly in Laos, if necessary, to keep the country from being engulfed by Reds.

There were scattered signs that Soviet Premier Khrushchev is beating a retreat from any idea of leaping over the Laotian brink into a war that could embroil the world.

The not unfriendly tone Gromyko used after conferring with Kennedy was one bit of evidence. Standing in the warm spring sunshine outside the front entrance of the White House office, Gromyko told a horde of newsmen: "The President and I after our conversation expressed the hope that possibilities would be found of settling the Laotian question peacefully."

On the matter of a peaceful settlement, peaceful development and neutrality, he went on to say that: "It would be good if both countries act in that direction."

Another straw which may indicate a favorable direction of the Soviet wind came in an article in Pravda which said the Soviet Union will welcome negotiations on Laos.

As for a cease-fire, Gromyko said it was touched upon in his talks with Kennedy and: "I have nothing to say publicly at this moment."

Those last three words were significant.

A little speed is important, not only because the SEATO conference is now under way and ends Wednesday, but also as a means of demonstrating whether the Soviet Union is talking with sincerity or just talking.

U. S. officials were inclined, accordingly, to keep their fingers crossed. With the pro-Communist rebels in Laos continuing to advance, stalling would be advantageous to Soviet aims.

Some 3,500 youths rioted Sunday night when police barred them from their favorite beach, an unlighted stretch of sand north of the city. About 50 were arrested and many were fined Monday on charges ranging from disorderly conduct to public intoxication.

Fines ranged from $5 to $25. Those cited included one girl, a University of Miami student charged with "open profanity."

The student invasion includes both sexes. The dark beach was a favorite spot for romancing.

Bonn Warship Plans Blocked By WEU Group

LONDON (AP)—West Germany's allies have blocked, for the moment, Bonn's request to build larger warships needed in the missile age, diplomats said Monday night.

Despite support from Gen. Lauris Norstad, the supreme Allied commander in Europe, the Western European Union council in London unexpectedly held up approval until Bonn submits more data.

The WEU wants to know exactly how many new destroyers and supply ships West Germany wants to build and their sizes. Informants expressed belief West Germany's request will be approved when the information is furnished in a week or so.

Britain, France, Belgium, the Netherlands, Luxembourg and Italy formed the WEU in 1954 to get West Germany into the North Atlantic Treaty Organization. One council task was to see that the Germans did not embark on runaway armament.

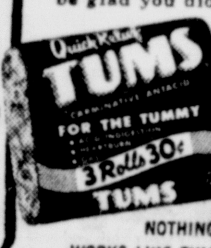

Under the 1954 treaty, the West Germans were allowed to build warships up to 3,000 tons and submarines up to 350 tons. Atomic, bacteriological, chemical, and other weapons were barred, including big guided rockets, bombers and various magnetic and radar-controlled mines.

The West Germans two weeks ago asked for permission to build eight destroyers up to 6,000 tons able to carry dual-purpose tactical launchers—the sort of antiaircraft rocket that can carry nuclear as well as conventional warheads.

They also wanted to build an unspecified number of permanent auxiliary vessels above 6,000 tons to serve as supply ships and to make magnetic or influence mines, the latter set off by underwater sound waves.

Names Of Officials Holding Race Track Stock To Be Bared

Livie To Abide By Finan's Ruling

ANNAPOLIS (AP)—Maryland's attorney general ruled Monday the State Racing Commission must make public the names of race track stockholders who are public officials, including members of the General Assembly.

The commission requires the various racing associations to submit the names of their stockholders but for years has refused public access to those records. At least one previous attorney general ruled the commission could keep the lists secret if it wished.

But Atty. Gen. Thomas B. Finan said the state has more than just a regulatory interest in supervising the tracks. He said the state is, in effect, practically a partner in the racing business because it receives revenue from the sport.

Finan's informal opinion said it is right and proper for the public to know which state officials have a financial interest in the racing associations.

He said he has discussed the matter with R. Bruce Livie, chairman of the racing commission, and Livie has agreed to abide by the ruling.

Algerian Talks Open April 7

PARIS (UPI)—France and the Algerian Moslem rebel regime announced Monday they have agreed to open full-scale negotiations April 7 in Evian, France, to seek an end to the 6½-year-old war in Algeria.

Officials in Paris and Tunis, headquarters of the rebel "provisional government," said the date for the peace conference was set in secret negotiations held during the weekend in Switzerland.

Announcement of the talks coincided with a new upsurge of rebel violence in Algeria in apparent keeping with the line laid down by rebel chief Ferhat Abbas that negotiations with France do not necessarily mean peace.

At least 13 persons were killed and at least 50 others wounded as rebel forces struck with grenades, gunfire and axes in a dozen attacks throughout Algeria in the past 48 hours. At least six of the attacks occurred in the Oran area.

Rees' Lawyers View TV Tape Of Jury Show

BALTIMORE (AP)—A television program in which members of a federal jury re-enacted their deliberations in a capital punishment case was viewed on video tape Monday by attorneys for the defendant.

The one-hour program telecast locally March 22 by Station WBAL-TV of Baltimore resulted in a delay of sentencing for convicted kidnaper Melvin Davis Rees Jr. and an investigation by the FBI.

William J. O'Donnell and William J. Evans, the two court-appointed attorneys who defended Rees without fee, conferred after watching the show on tape but declined to comment about whether they planned to file any legal motions.

They asked and received the postponement of sentence for the defendant from Hyattsville, Md., the day after the telecast, saying they wanted to view the tape to see if Rees' rights had been violated.

Rees, 32, was convicted in U.S. District Court Feb. 23 of kidnapping Mrs. Mildred Jackson of Apple Grove, Va., and her daughter, Susan, 5, in 1959 for the purpose of killing them. The mother and daughter disappeared in January of that year in Virginia and their bodies were found two months later in Maryland.

The maximum sentence Rees faces under the Lindbergh law is life imprisonment, because the all-male jury did not recommend the death penalty.

Nine of the jurors, including the foreman, re-enacted on the telecast their deliberations which led to Rees' conviction.

Stolen Jewelry Worth $9,000 Sold For $2.40

CHARLESTON, S. C. (AP)—A Charleston man who admitted selling $9,000 worth of jewelry for $2.40 has been arrested.

Police said the man, Perry DeVeaux, a 28-year-old Negro, assisted in the recovery of most of the jewelry and clothing taken from the parked car. The owners, Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Campbell of Washington, D. C., were at a restaurant when the theft occurred. A window of the car was forced open and three suitcases taken.

Police Chief William F. Kelly reported DeVeaux said he had sold a diamond necklace and matching earrings, worth $7,000, to a woman for $1.40. A $2,000 diamond brooch brought $1. All have been recovered.

DeVeaux pleaded guilty to the charges. Magistrate James H. Harvey ordered him held under $2,000 bond for General Sessions court.

Gun Believed Used In Slaying Found

BALTIMORE (AP)—An old .38-caliber revolver was found Monday in a paper bag in a West Baltimore coal yard, and police said it may have been the weapon used in the holdup-slaying of Andrew Blondheim.

Ballistics tests were ordered to determine whether the revolver was the one from which a single shot was fired in the slaying March 16 of the 60-year-old liquor store owner.

Police continued a search for another gun that was stolen from Blondheim's store at the time of the robbery.

Meanwhile, Mrs. Sharon Williams, held since Saturday as a state's witness in the case, was released from jail on her own recognizance.

Her voluntary statement to police led to the arrest Saturday of Walter T. Williams, 26, whom she described as her common-law husband. Williams was ordered held without bail on charges of robbing and killing Blondheim.

Behan Fails To Show; Bench Warrant Issued

TORONTO (AP)—A bench warrant was issued Monday for the arrest of Irish playwright Brendan Behan, when he failed to appear in court on charges of assault and causing a disturbance.

Behan, who came to Toronto to appear in a jazz revue, was arrested last Wednesday for causing a disturbance after he ordered a bottle of liquor sent to his room and was told this was prohibited in Canada.

Magistrate Donald Graham issued the warrant and ordered $500 cash bail forfeited.

Chimpanzee Kidnaper Given 2-Year Term

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (UPI)—Robert Tomarchin, 28, Miami, Fla., was sentenced to two years in prison Monday for kidnaping a chimpanzee from the St. Louis zoo.

Sentence was pronounced by Circuit Judge J. Casey Walsh. Tomarchin was found guilty of burglary and "stealing in the abduction of 'Mr. Moke,'" billed as the St. Louis zoo's "talking chimpanzee," on Dec. 21, 1959.

Tomarchin had sold Mr. Moke to the zoo in October, 1959, for $1,575. Two months later he abducted the chimp and took him to Miami with him.

West Seeks Positive Russian Response In Atom Test Ban Talks

GENEVA (AP)—David Ormsby-Gore of Britain sought Monday night to elicit a positive Soviet response to Western plans for concluding a treaty banning nuclear weapon tests.

The minister of state dined as the guest of Soviet delegate Semyon K. Tsarapkin. Their conversation was confidential and a week may elapse before there are any indications as to whether it bore fruit.

This Soviet-British chat came at a time when three-power nuclear negotiations threatened to bog down completely unless the Soviet Union showed some give on the control issue.

No dollar limit on hospital extras

Hospital "extras" can be expensive. In fact, drugs, medications, X-rays and other such services often represent the largest part of a hospital bill.

Ordinary hospitalization policies allow you only a fixed number of dollars to cover these extra charges. Frequently such allowances simply are not large enough to cover your bill.

By contrast, in most cases of hospitalized illness your Standard Blue Cross program pays the full cost of all normal hospital "extras" (plus the full cost of your semi-private room and board).

Full coverage of hospital "extras" is another reason why Blue Cross-Blue Shield is your best protection against the cost of hospital and medical care.

What does your present policy say about dollar limits on hospital "extras"?

Man Charged In Shooting Of His Wife's Boy Friend

Inmate At D.C. Child Center Fatally Scalded

HYATTSVILLE, Md. (AP) — A man who shot and wounded his wife's boy friend after surprising him in her bathroom was ordered held Monday for action of the Prince Georges County grand jury.

William R. Buffington Jr. fired three shots the night of Jan. 25 at the victim, who dived through the bathroom window and ran nude to his car nearby, according to testimony in Hyattsville Police Court.

Judge George J. O'Hara ordered Buffington held on a charge of assault with intent to kill. The charge was filed by the victim, Robert E. Van Pelt of Ardmore. Buffington was released on $500 bond.

Van Pelt, 27, said he and Mrs. Buffington had a movie date the night of the shooting, and in order to save time they agreed to his bathing and changing into new clothes at her apartment in Langley Park.

Van Pelt testified he was getting ready to take a bath when Buffington ordered him out of the bathroom. "He said I wouldn't need any clothes where I was going," Van Pelt said in recalling Buffington's orders. "I dived out (the window) with my pants in my hand," Van Pelt added.

Three shots were fired, he said, and he was wounded in the shoulder, chest and thigh.

County Detective E. G. Husk quoted Buffington as saying he had listened at the apartment window and then entered after he heard his wife ask Van Pelt to let her in the bathroom.

The detective said Buffington stated he only meant to scare Van Pelt. The victim of the shooting said the movie date was to have been his last with Mrs. Buffington, whom he said was planning to return to her husband because of her two children.

Grand Jury To Probe Milk Price Rigging

BALTIMORE (AP) — A special federal grand jury was organized Monday to conduct an anti-trust investigation.

Last week, a federal grand jury in Baltimore indicted eight dairies, four of their top executives and a milk distributor's association on charges of rigging bids on milk prices for schools in Baltimore City and Baltimore County.

The latest jury was organized before U.S. District Judge W. Calvin Chesnut.

Paul A. Owens, an attorney from the anti-trust division of the U.S. Department of Justice in Washington, said the jury would begin hearing testimony April 4.

Mackless was captured Saturday shortly after Walter Helene, 30, of Glen Burnie, the guard, was wounded in a scuffle at the jail. Mackless was ordered to stand trial April 9, pending Helene's release from Mercy Hospital. He is reported in good condition with a bullet wound in the right leg.

EASTON, Md. (AP) — Mayor Calvin G. Lomax of Easton, who died Sunday after a short illness, will be buried here Wednesday.

Funeral services for Lomax, 50, will be held at St. Mark's Methodist Church, with burial at Woodlawn Cemetery.

Lomax died at Baltimore, after undergoing surgery Saturday. He was serving his second term as mayor. He was a jewelry store owner in private life.

Sherwood M. Hubbard succeeds Lomax as Easton mayor.

BALTIMORE (AP)—Maryland's 1960 traffic death toll so far in 1961 stood at 74 on Monday, State Police reported. The figure compared with 117 lives lost in the state at the same date in 1960.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Kennedy issued a proclamation Monday calling for the observance of Cancer Control Month during April.

Man Went Wrong In Beginning, Faith Gives Him 'Second Chance'

EDITOR'S NOTE — The Old Testament tells it in a few pages, but the words have re-echoed down the centuries: Man was created in a world of innocence yet chose the forbidden fruit. The consequences of this biblical drama are explored in the second of six articles on the Christian faith.

By GEORGE CORNELL
A P Religion Writer

In the beginning, Christian doctrine holds, man went wrong. Self-centered pride tripped him up. And it still does.

Christianity sees this as man's basic problem, and offers an answer to it.

Believers contend that their faith gives man a "second chance"—an opportunity to regain the love he lost by rejecting it.

In organ roll cadences, the Book of Genesis tells how it all started. No other document has aroused such storms of controversy. Many Christian scholars today call it legendary myth. A few insist it is literal history.

But in either case, they consider it true. They agree it expresses, in profound and majestic terms, the real condition of man's origin and his destiny.

With Christians now observing their Lenten period of penitence, it is the abiding situation pointed up in Genesis that stirs the prayers, "Lord have mercy . . ." and focuses their hearts on the ever-renewing assurance of Easter.

Behind it all lies the old saga of creation, and of mankind's initial step into the lonely night of his own ego, of self-deification. "Ye shall be as gods," the serpent said. And man tried it, and tries it still.

Many of the tumults about the account of creation itself have died away. The church first condemned, but later accepted the discoveries of Copernicus and Galileo about the structure and operations of the solar system.

No direct conflict was involved. Even Biblical literalists today, who consider each word of the Bible dictated infallibly by God's inspiration, recognize that much of the language is symbolic—as when it speaks of the four corners of the earth.

Largely faded, too, is the uproar touched off in the recent past by Darwin's theory of evolution—and most Roman Catholic and Protestant scholars see it as one way God may have acted.

The words of the Old Book themselves have a ring of geological insight. "And the earth was without form, and void . . ." Man himself was formed from primeval slime—the "dust of the ground."

Some firmly conservative Protestants and individual Catholics, however, still denounce the idea of evolution. Either way, Christians view creation as a divine conception, not blind chance.

As for the account of creation occurring in six days, the Hebrew word for day, "yom," simply means a span of time—it could be millions of years. Even this, in eternity, is but the flick of an eyelash.

The Biblical story records that man, like God, had free choice—to give himself to the secure embrace, or to assert his self-exalting independence from it.

Become god yourself, the tempter urged, pointing to the forbidden tree of good and evil knowledge. "Your eyes shall be opened." The fruit looked as if it would "make one wise." So man made his first grab for domination. He ate.

At that moment, he knew he was by himself, a rival of God, cut off with his own conceits and self-interest, detached from full love, separated from complete contact with anyone, his life alienated from its source.

He was naked, anxious and alone, and knew it.

This was the "fall," mankind's fateful "original sin," as St. Augustine called it. While the details are widely considered allegorical, the point made is generally accepted.

Roman Catholics and some Protestants teach that humanity thereby lost sanctifying grace—a direct relation with God, and that the tendency to sin was passed on to future generations.

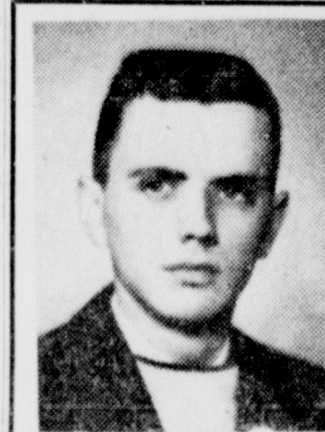

Other Protestants see the account simply as describing symbolically a continuing human situation. They do not think of "original sin" as a specific inheritance, but more as an unavoidable influence now at large in the world, affecting everyone.

Man had gone down the wrong distinctive power of self-judgment road, and the overgrown forest of Yet his "image" of God was evil blocked any return. Some-blurred and broken. Selfish pride thing dark and sinister gripped—inevitably—colored every im-him. He could not save himself-pulse. The sin was rooted, not from it. Something drastic—be-just in the individual, but the young human action—was needed whole complex of social processes, on the human level. And Christ-so that none could escape it. ians claim this has happened.

In any case, Adam's sin isn't original any more. Some people today shy away from the "sin" idea, considering it old-fashioned and prudish. They joke about the Eden story as a quaint fairy tale. But to perceptive Christians, it is as real and immediate as the headlines of the morning paper.

Men long for complete relationship with each other, as psychologists have re-emphasized, but the demands required are more than he is characteristically willing to give. He holds back, wanting it, opposing it, part of the world, yet singularly apart from it. Something—that old self-centered resistance—shackles him.

Nevertheless, as Christians see it, the old divine spark and hunger remained in man, showing up in many ways, in his sense of moral duty, his capacity to trans-

MRS. MILLIE ALDERTON

Bible Class Teacher Is Honored

The Adult division of the Sunday school of Melvin Methodist Church honored Mrs. Millie Alderton, teacher of the Ladies Bible Class for the past 40 years, at a dinner. She was presented an orchid corsage and in her honor the class was named the Millie Alderton Bible Class.

Rev. F. G. Wanek offered the invocation and prayer. Mrs. Robert Street read the Scripture. Tribute was paid to Mrs. Alderton by Mrs. Mary Zais and testimonials to her loyal service were given by Clarence Andrews, Sunday school superintendent; Eugene Streett, of the primary department; Mrs. I. H. Smith, oldest member of the class, Robert Streett, Mrs. Carol Koerner, Mrs. Millie Miller and Mrs. Lola Fletcher. Mrs. Robert Golden gave the history of the class. An original poem, "Our Teacher" was given by Mrs. Jane Fier.

Mrs. Dorothy McDonald, Mrs. Eleanor DelaGrange, Mrs. Clarence Andrews, Mrs. Dorothy Harper, Mrs. Shaffer and Mrs. Georgia Struckman sang, "My Task" with Mrs. Helen Northcraft at the piano. The entire group sang, "Blest Be the Tie."

Guests included Mr. and Mrs. John Alderton, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Alderton, Miss Fern Brisson and the Men's Bible class, which united with Mrs. Alderton's, when it was without a teacher. The Young Adult class served the dinner.

Myrtle Brode Installed By Auxiliary

The Ladies Auxiliary and World War I Barracks, 1125 had a joint installation Saturday evening at the VFW home. Mrs. Ina Smith presided and introduced Mrs. Chloe Reynolds, past president of the auxiliary, and installing officer. Approximately 100 attended.

Mrs. Myrtle Brode was installed as president; Mrs. Margaret Baker, senior vice; Mrs. Diana Fuller, junior vice; Mrs. Catherine Wilson, chaplain; Mrs. Rosalie Everstine, treasurer and secretary; Mrs. Pearl Darling, conductress; Mrs. Josephine Shon-ski, guard, and Mrs. Clara Manthey, three year trustee.

Appointive officers are Mrs. Daisy Buskey, patriotic instructor; Mrs. Grace Cross, Americanization; Mrs. Reynolds, legislative, publicity, musician and hospital; Mrs. Wilson, ways and means; Mrs. Ada Wilt, Mrs. Bessie Matheney, Mrs. Catherine Williams, Mrs. Regina Koegel, color bearers; Mrs. Darling, hospital cochairman, and Mrs. Smith, historian.

Mrs. Brode presented a poem, "A Garden Story" in her acceptance speech. She gave her officers and chairman corsages and received an orchid from her granddaughter, Vicki Jenkins. On behalf of the auxiliary, Mrs. Wilson presented gifts to Mrs. Smith, Mrs. Reynolds and Mrs. Everstine. The latter presented the past president's pin to Mrs. Smith, Mr. and Mrs. John Wilt won the prize.

Cut flowers and candles were used in the table decorations. Music was by Mrs. Bertie Rank. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Wilson and her committee. Guests were Mr. and Mrs. Edward Jenkins, Mark Jenkins, Mrs. G. W. Winters, and Mrs. Maude Taylor, Silver Spring member of Walter Reed Auxiliary 244. The next meeting will be April 12.

Michael Brant Marks Birthday

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Brant entertained with a party for their son, Michael, celebrating his ninth birthday. It was held Saturday evening at their home, 713 St. Mary's Avenue.

Balloons were used in the decorations and yo-yos were given as favors. Games were played and prizes won by John Corbin, Chris Hovatter, Larry Roby and James Lambert.

Gift Is Installed At Hospital

A new piece of urological X-ray equipment was installed Saturday at Sacred Heart Hospital as a gift of the Ladies Auxiliary. Sister Mary Richards, administrator, reports that with the use of this modern unit, accessories and techniques, the X-ray radiation to the patient is cut more than 50 percent.

The equipment is composed of a motor driven Hugh H. Young urological table, mounted on a dual motor base. The motor is controlled by hand or foot switches, enabling the surgeon to tilt the table in a standing, sitting or reclining position. It moves down to permit patient transfer from the stretcher, and up to a height required by the doctor. Dual control switches are located at the side for the assistant and a massive switch at the foot for the doctor.

The most modern equipment available, it provides the doctor with on the spot X-ray films, as the patient is being treated. Other important accessories are an X-ray generator, super dynamax rotating anode tube, shock proof cables, magnalite cassettes with Patterson hi-speed screens. The total cost of the equipment, Sister Mary Richard said is $9,800.

Others present were Bryan Carroll, Kevan Carroll, Wayne Conway, Terry Mullaney, Martin Coyle and Gary Brant.

Ruth Wood Elected Head Of BSP City Council

Beta Sigma Phi City Council elected Mrs. Ruth Wood president at the meeting held Thursday at her home, Armstrong Avenue, Frostburg. Mrs. Jean Green presided. A member of Xi Nu Chapter, Mrs. Wood was elected for the 1961-62 year. Other officers will be elected in May.

The council also discussed plans to be in Emmanuel Episcopal parish for a dinner meeting. It is to be held in May, concluding the seawanis Sunshine Camp. Because of the banquet, the next meeting of the council will be held April 20 at the home of Mrs. Wood.

A spring ritual will be held April 27, at the Ali Ghan Country of Miss Dorothy Campbell, 510 Club. It is to be preceded by a Hill Top Drive dinner at 6:30. Reservations are being made by April 24. A final hour was held and refreshments report was made on the card served. Mrs. Mary Frances Marparty to be held April 13. It will (Continued on Page 17)

Alumnae Plans Party

The Alumnae Association of Catholic Girls Central High School is planning the annual entertainment for the graduates and a rummage sale, Mrs. Julia Brant, president, said last evening.

Instead of the usual breakfast the graduate will be honored at a brunch. It will be held April 23 after the 12:15 mass. It will be in the Social Center, with Thomas B. Finan, attorney general of Maryland, as guest speaker.

April 8 has been set for the rummage sale, which will be held at 7 North Liberty Street, beginning at 9 a.m. Mrs. Jane Young is chairman. Donations will be accepted at the sale site, April 5, from 11 a.m. until 7 p.m.

George L. Durst, 304 Cumberland Street, who is a patient in Memorial Hospital, is improving following an operation.

LaVale Century Club will have Mrs. Nancy Van Fossen as guest speaker tonight in LaVale Methodist Church.

52 phone calls over two-week period save Gove family $61.20...
771 miles of travel

Mrs. Gove, of Frederick, discusses plans for a parish supper with a friend.

We asked Mrs. Chase C. Gove, Jr., to help us find out how much the telephone can do for a busy family. Mrs. Gove kept a two-week record of all her family's outgoing telephone calls—estimating the time, traveling and money, if any, each call saved.

At the end of two weeks, the Goves' telephone record showed the phone had saved more than 33 valuable hours and $61.20 in car expenses. Visits and errands that would have meant an estimated 771 miles of travel were accomplished quickly and easily by telephone.

Mrs. Gove, the mother of three, serves her community through a number of organizations including the P.T.A. and the Frederick Community Chest. She is also President of The Women's Auxiliary of Frederick Memorial Hospital. For her, the telephone gives more time to devote to both her family and neighbors.

What does the telephone do for you? A record of your phone calls would probably show, too, that few things do so much for you... at so little cost... as your telephone.

Tournament Sponsors Commended By City

The Mayor and Council, at suggestion of Police Commissioner Philmore Fleming, will send a letter of commendation to the sponsors of the first Alhambra Catholic Invitational Basketball Tournament which was conducted here over the weekend.

Fleming said such events would be encouraged and reports from visitors indicated they were pleased with their welcome here.

Ann Landers . . .

Answers Your Problems

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Our 19-year-old college daughter phoned to ask if she could bring a young man home for the weekend. She said it was love — and wanted us to meet him.

My husband was opposed to it, but I persuaded him to say yes. When we met Marion and the fellow at the train we were stunned. He came with only the clothes on his back — no pajamas, no clean shirt — just a shaving kit.

Saturday evening Marion had open house. It was a horror. The fellow was ill at ease, he didn't fit in with Marion's friends at all and he got himself a little loaded, which complicated matters. My husband was tempted several times during the evening to tell Marion the fellow was a jerk and to unload him at the earliest opportunity. I pleaded with him to keep quiet.

Sunday afternoon before they left Marion got us off to the side and said "I apologize for bringing this creep home. I must have been out of my mind."

Of course we are delighted but what cooled her off so fast? — RELIEVED

DEAR RELIEVED: Smart parents. Had you criticized the boy, Marion would have been forced to defend him and the battle would have been on.

By allowing your daughter to view him in her own surroundings she was able to see for herself that he fit in like saddle shoes at a coronation ball. That — combined with your silence — did it. Congratulations.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I'm writing about a subject that sickens me nearly every time I pick up a newspaper. I refer to parents who leave very small children alone in a house. Then a fire starts and the little ones burn to death.

Their excuses are always the same — "I went next door for five minutes . . ." etc., etc. No house burns to the ground in five minutes. And what next door can possibly be more important than the children? These horrible tragedies occur so often you'd think people would learn from the experiences of others — but they don't.

Please, Ann Landers, use your widely read column to remind parents everywhere that small children should never be left unattended. A house may be fireproof but children are not. They can get ahold of matches, stumble into an open fireplace, and sometimes they "play house" and use the kitchen stove.

If I see this letter in the paper I will feel better because I'll know millions of others will be seeing it, too. — DISTURBED

DEAR DISTURBED: Here it is — and thank you for writing. All parents should be aware that tragedies don't always happen to other people.

DEAR ANN: I want to marry a widower who has a 14-year-old daughter. The problem is this: The girl does not like me although I've tried everything to win her affection. Although I'm only 23 I've read a lot on child psychology and I'm sure I can win her over in time.

My parents and clergyman are against this marriage but I'm an independent person and have no intention of letting anyone dictate to me. This is a real challenge and I feel that with intelligence and patience I can meet it. Do you? — COURAGEOUS GIRL

DEAR GIRL: Marriage has enough challenges without going out of your way to look for added handicaps. The odds are overwhelmingly against you, and I suggest you steer clear of this situation.

Are you going steady? Making marriage plans? If so, send for ANN LANDERS' booklet, "Before You Marry — Is It Love Or Sex?" enclosing your request 20 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

City To Advertise Bids For Resurfacing Streets

Street Commissioner John J. Long was authorized to advertise for bids for resurfacing several streets by the Mayor and Council yesterday.

Bids will be asked on Columbia Street from Valley to Bedford; Union Street from the B&O Railroad to Altamont Terrace; Harrison Street from the B&O 50 feet east of Maryland Avenue; East Third Street from Pennsylvania Avenue to Virginia Avenue; Central Avenue from Park Street to Maryland Avenue; and Allegheny Street from Fayette Street to Cumberland Street.

Long was also authorized to advertise for bids for providing 440-volt service for the Frederick Street ejector station.

In other action council on motion of Police and Fire Commissioner Philmore Fleming, rejected "for the time being" an application by John William Wright of Eckhart, for a certificate of convenience to operate a taxicab in the city.

Fleming announced that the department plans to make Smith Street one-way from Centre Street to Mechanic Street in the near future.

Residents of the area had requested the move and Fleming said after a study, the Centre to Mechanic direction was decided because of city fire apparatus.

Companies and firms in the area have been utilizing an alley bordering the Acme parking lot and indicate they will continue to do so, Fleming added.

Council authorized payment of $3,600 to J. E. Dennison and Son for painting the interior of City Hall and the Public Safety Building court room.

Bids were received on a three-wheel wagon for the Police Department and two police cruisers. Bidding on the wagon was Cosgrove Cycle Company while Graton Ford, Inc., and Gurley's submitted bids on the cruisers. They were referred to Fleming.

LESTER L. SHERMAN

Treasurer For Drive

Lester L. Sherman, RD 5, Cresap Park, has been appointed treasurer of the 1961 Mental Health campaign in Allegany county, according to Walter J. Maxey, campaign chairman.

The drive will get underway April 30, Maxey said.

Sherman is estate planning officer and assistant secretary of the Liberty Trust Company of Cumberland.

In announcing plans for the campaign, Maxey said "allotted funds fall considerably short of what is needed to develop a vigorously effective program of treatment and proper care of the 19,000 patients who will be in our state mental hospitals in the coming year."

Sherman served in the Army during World War II and is active in Cresaptown community work. He was graduated from Allegheny High School and Catherman's Business School.

He is married to the former Miss Ruth Turley and the couple has two children, Richard and Gail.

Volunteers who wish to aid in the campaign should contact Maxey or call PA 4-9020.

Local Woman Hurt In Crash

Two women, including Mrs. Mabel C. Roth, of 49 Browning Street, remained in "serious" condition yesterday in Frederick Memorial Hospital where they were admitted last Thursday following a two-vehicle accident.

The second woman, Mrs. Alice Louise Fogle, 71, of RD 6, Frederick, remained on the "critical" list and is still unconscious, according to Maryland State Police at Frederick.

Police said Mrs. Roth sustained a fractured arm and undetermined internal injuries. Her condition was reported as "serious."

State Police said the accident occurred when a car driven by Mrs. Fogle had turned north off Maryland Route 144 onto U.S. 40 and into the path of a car being operated by Mrs. Maxine L. Hudson, of 133 Pennsylvania Avenue.

Police said Mrs. Roth and her husband Decoursey Roth, were passengers in the Hudson vehicle. Both cars were demolished.

Application For Trampoline Tabled By City

The city has tabled an application for a Trampoline center on Port Avenue pending receipt of information concerning controls and regulations necessary for such an enterprise.

The application for the center by the M and D Corp., Charles M. Minke, president, has been referred to the Board of Zoning Appeals. Finance Commissioner Lucile Roeder and other members of council said they had learned other cities require controls such as regulation of drainage, location of equipment, depth of pits and liability insurance and that the city should look into it.

It was emphasized that efforts to act on the application would be speeded so that Minke would know whether to proceed. He told council he had arranged for insurance and planned to construct a chain link fence. Further plans would have to await a decision of the Appeals Board, he added.

Controls List For Port Use Asked

City Engineer Charles R. Nuzum and Municipal Airport Maintenance Superintendent Charles F. Heller were asked yesterday to submit a list of controls and regulations concerning use of the port facility by the National Sports Car Races in May.

Finance Commissioner Lucile Roeder said the city should protect its investment both before and after the races.

We have in the past devoted so much time to discrediting ancient generalities about card playing, that it is comforting, for a change, to endorse one that has stood up through the years. It is the one that cautions declarer against having his own trumps reduced below the number required for extracting purposes. (This, of course, is not intended to apply to those hands which are being played at a cross-ruff, where naturally the plan is to make separately as many trumps as possible.)

Today we have an illustration of a hand in which it was suicidal for declarer to have his trumps reduced to exactly the number held by one adversary. The final contract is sound enough and the manner of reaching it is approved. West realized that it was futile to compete when partner had announced a trickless hand. North's jump raise was proper in view of the fact that partner had shown strength and he himself had previously promised nothing at all.

The king of hearts was opened and the suit continued. Declarer ruffed. He drew two rounds of trumps and got the bad news when West failed on the second lead. He abandoned trumps at once in favor of establishing the clubs, but West refused to take the first club trick. He did take the second and permitted his partner to ruff the third round. In the end a diamond had to be lost and the contract was defeated.

At the end of trick two declarer was doomed. If he drew trumps the heart suit would be run against him. If he failed to draw them the club ruff was inevitable. It was at trick two that declarer should have taken inventory. Since a diamond had to be conceded at all events, what better time was there than now to give up the trick? West will be rendered helpless. He cannot profitably continue with hearts because the ruff can be taken in dummy, and trumps extracted. Any other lead causes declarer no embarrassment at all.

True enough, declarer would have made the hand against a 3-2 trump break, but a 4-1 split hardly can be looked upon as a remote holding. The crux of the situation is that the concession of the diamond loser at this point does not stand to lose anything. South would have done well to give before it hurts.

Jaycees To Aid Polio Clinic

The Cumberland Junior Association of Commerce is cooperating with the Allegheny County Health Department in providing free transportation to and from the immunization clinic for those who wish to obtain polio shots.

Residents of the Cumberland area should call PA 2-5303 between 1 and 3 p.m. Wednesday. Minors must have written consent from their parents.

The Jaycees are urging every resident under 40 years of age to get their polio immunization shots.

Mineral Co. Health Dept. Outlines Services In 1960

Clinics, Schools, Keep Nurses Busy

KEYSER—Mineral County Health Department announces the following services were given residents of this County during the year 1960.

There were 110 school visits made; 197 nurse-teacher conferences held regarding pupils; 1,915 pupils were screened for defects in tonsils, teeth, vision, heights and weights. Of those, 250, were found to have defects serious enough that they were given referral slips to take to their parents suggesting a visit to their doctor or dentist for advice regarding what should be done to correct existing defects. Of the above number, 96 are known to have corrections made. An attempt is made each year to screen every other grade, first, third, fifth, and so on, making it possible to see each child in school every other year.

Green Heads Barton Legion

BARTON — Barton Post No. 189, American Legion elected the following officers at a recent meeting.

Cecil Green, commander; Roy Winters, first vice commander; James Mowbray, second vice commander; Frank Truly, third vice commander; Joseph Shuhart, adjutant; J. Ervin Martin, finance officer; Frank Truly, chaplain; Roy Winters, historian; Howard Broadwater, service officer and Clifton Broadwater, sergeant-at-arms.

The executive committee includes Earl E. Metz, chairman; Howard Broadwater, Charles Robertson and James Mowbray. Installation of officers will be held at the next regular meeting, April 5. Refreshments will be served.

There were 264 home visits made in behalf of the school child to urge parents, where possible, to have corrections made. Twenty-four pre-school clinics were held at different schools in the county for those children whose ages range from three months to school age. Clinics were also held at the Health Department office on 51 Saturday mornings at which time 2,732 individuals were given immunizations; 13 Poliomyelitis Vaccine Clinics were held resulting in 3,958 injections of Salk vaccine; five Typhoid Vaccine Clinics were held with 389 attending.

There were eight Tuberculosis Skin Testing Clinics held with 79 being tested. All positive reactors were offered free x-rays as follows:

A total of 921 home and office visits were made to and in behalf of the generalized program of Public Health, other than already stated. Twelve state meetings and district conferences were attended by the Health Nurses to help promote a better understanding of health.

Hyndman Club Sponsors Bird Box Building Contest

Steve Emerick Is Named Winner

HYNDMAN, Pa. — The winners of the Hyndman Rod and Gun Club's Bird Box Building Contest were announced at a meeting held in the Community Center.

The contest attracted much attention with the winning boxes all being constructed for Wrens, shoulder patches designed by Secretary Jim Divilbiss, are now on sale. He added that membership has reached a high of 145 and volunteers are requested to report for clean-up and repair work at the old 'Zack Evans' farm which the club recently leased from Dove E. and John I. Ritchey. The farm lies about one-half mile northwest of town on Gooseberry Road. The farmhouse will be converted into club headquarters following some repair work and some of the land will be farmed to further the club's game feeding program. Plans are under way to prepare target, trap and archery ranges as well as an area for other games and picnics.

A tie for second prize existed between Donald Corley and Billy Ritchey — each was awarded a flashlight. Pocket knives were awarded to John Corley and John Logsdon for third and fourth prize. James Johnston received a sheath knife as an award for superior craftsmanship. An additional cash award of $2, will be presented to the boy first reporting that his bird box has been occupied by a Wren.

Clifford C. Hite, presided over the program which consisted of two movies "Birdlife" and "Wild-life Cafeteria." He then presented Fish Warden William McNay who reported that 2,000 Brown and 1,000 Rainbow trout were recently stocked in Wills Creek and 1,100 Rainbows were placed in Gladdens Run.

Game Warden William Shaffer discussed the value of bird boxes for song birds and complimented the boys for their efforts and interest in the contest. He also extended his thanks to the organization and area sportsmen who had assisted in the recent game feeding program. Pheasant raising was discussed as a future project and the warden advised the group that rabbits, ringnecks and turkeys had been recently stocked in suitable local areas. Mr. Hite remarked that the new

Freshmen Plan Vocal Recital At Frostburg

FROSTBURG — The Freshman Class of Frostburg State Teachers College will sponsor a vocal recital by Mrs. Sara Pierce, soprano, Tuesday at 8:15 p.m. in Compton Hall Auditorium. She will be assisted in the program by her husband, James, FSTC music instructor, at the piano.

The vocal portion of the program will include numbers by Handel, Bach, Schubert, Strauss, and Brahms. Mrs. Pierce will conclude her presentation with songs from "When We Were Young," by A. A. Milne.

Mrs. Pierce received her bachelor's degree from Friends University, Wichita, Kans., where she was selected for "Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities." She received her master's degree from Northwestern University, Evanston, in 1956 and for nine years taught vocal music at public schools in Kansas, Wellesley, Mass., and Cumberland, Md. For the past seven years she has been music director at the Kansas State Kayette Leadership Camp.

Mrs. Pierce, who studied voice with Elsa Haury, Elizabeth Wisor and Eugene Dressler, has given programs for church, school and civic groups.

Second Graders Plan Program Thursday

FROSTBURG — The second grade of Beall Elementary School will have a program Thursday at 10 a.m. with the theme "It Happens in Spring."

Mrs. Ursula Bauman and Miss Athalia Everline, teachers; Miss Sally Lance, music teacher; Sharon Toliferro and Caroline Agnolito, student teachers, are directing the program.

An original poem will be introduced by the members of Miss Everline's room. Things that happen in spring will be shown by stories, poems, songs and dances.

"How Spring Came" will be dramatized by Miss Everline's room also.

"The Easter Bunny That Over-slept" will be dramatized by Mrs. Bauman's room.

The schedule for the week follows: Today, confessions will be heard at 9:30 a.m. and from 5 to 6 and 7:30 to 8:30 p.m.

Wednesday, confessions will be heard after the morning masses at 11 a.m.; 5 to 6 and 7:30 to 8:30 p.m.

Holy Thursday, a low mass at 9 a.m. for children and others unable to attend the evening mass. A high mass at 7:30 p.m. with processional and reposition of the Blessed Sacrament. Public adoration of the Blessed Sacrament will follow the evening devotion until midnight. Confessions will be heard from 4 to 6 p.m. and after the evening service.

Good Friday, the church will re-open for adoration at 9 a.m. Confessions will begin at 11 a.m. and will continue until everyone is heard. There will not be any further confessions before Easter. A service on Good Friday beginning at 2 p.m. will consist of Veneration of the Cross, the Sacred Passion and Holy Communion. Stations of the Cross at 7:30 p.m. and a special offering for the holy places in Palestine will be received at the Good Friday devotion.

Holy Saturday, Vigil services, which include the blessings of the new fire; Paschal candle; procession, lessons, litanies, blessing of water and renewal of baptismal vows will begin at 11 p.m. with high mass following at midnight.

Easter Sunday masses (all low masses) at 7, 8, 9, and 10:15 a.m. with benediction after the last mass. There will not be any baptisms on Easter Sunday.

The weekly public social has been cancelled this week due to Good Friday.

Self denial folders are to be returned this week.

The offerings on Easter Sunday will be for the Archdiocesan tax levied on the Parish.

St. Michael's School will close after classes on Wednesday.

Miss Richardson To Give Recital

FROSTBURG—Miss Ellen Richardson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Richardson, 114 Frost Avenue will present a piano recital Wednesday 8 p.m. in the lecture room of the First Methodist Church for members and their friends.

Miss Richardson is a senior student at Peabody Conservatory of Music, Baltimore, where she has studied with concert pianists and teachers Mieczyslaw Munz and Julio Esteban.

Her program will include the French Suite No. 6 by J. S. Bach, and Sonata in D Major by W. A. Mozart; as well as pieces by Schumann, Debussy, Prokofiev and Bartok.

Church Plans Egg Hunt On Parish Lawn

LONACONING—An Easter egg hunt will be held on Sunday, at 2:30 p.m. at St. Peter's Episcopal Church parish grounds. Prizes will be given to children finding the most eggs.

An Easter party will follow in the Parish house for the church school and refreshments will be served. Mrs. William J. Hutcherson, Mrs. Joseph W. Likens assisting, will be in charge.

William J. Hutcherson and Rev. Leslie E. Schwindt are in charge of the annual church school picnic to be June 11 at Herrington Manor near Oakland.

They too will be in charge of the special money-raising project in May for material needed for the summer session of the church school beginning June 18.

It is scheduled that George J. Wilson's class will be in church for the services on the first Sunday of each month; William J. Hutcherson's class will be in the church the fifth Sunday of each month.

Annual congregational meeting will be held Wednesday, April 5 at 7:30 p.m. in the church. All church groups will give financial and activities reports.

The "SPYS" are sellings one pound fruit and nut chocolate covered Easter eggs. Orders are being taken by members of the young peoples group and Father Schwindt.

West Virginia PSC To Regulate Sewage Disposal

By CARLO J. SALZANO

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—For the first time in history, the Public Service Commission plans to put down in black and white all rules and regulations governing operation of sewer services under its jurisdiction in West Virginia.

"Until now we have been playing it by ear," said Commission Chairman Myron R. Renick. "Adoption of a set of regulations will be of help both to sewer service operators and the commission."

The commission has had rules and regulations for all other types of utilities but found no need to spell them out for operators of sewerage utilities, Renick said.

Consequently, for many years, some communities provided the service free of charge, meaning the service was not subject to PSC regulation.

Doubt Removed
"Activities of the West Virginia Water Resources Commission and interstate anti-pollution compacts have greatly magnified the number of sewer utilities that come under PSC regulations,"

Renick said.

The commission also said there was a time when there was "some doubt in the minds of some municipally-owned utilities as to PSC jurisdiction."

However, that doubt was removed by the State Supreme Court last October when the PSC was upheld in a challenge of its authority, brought by the city of Wheeling.

Renick emphasized that the rules and regulations worked out by the commission during the past year are only tentative and won't be adopted before all interested parties are given a chance to be heard.

Emphasize Old Rules

The first of what may be a series of hearings on the proposed regulations will be held here Wednesday.

The proposed regulations generally spell out rules which had been followed by the commission in the past.

Renick described as "probably the most controversial" regulations dealing with extension of sewers. These provide, among other things, that a utility must provide without charge extensions up 50 feet.

Other regulations deal with such matters as service interruptions, charges for service connections and deposits from customers.

Jackson Outlines Need For Community College

Tells PTA Carver Building Is Available

FROSTBURG—J. Goodloe Jackson, president of the Allegany County Board of Education, told a meeting of Hill Street Parent Teacher Association last night, that the establishment of a Community College in Cumberland is imperative.

Such a college can be started this fall in the Carver School building on Frederick Street, Cumberland, if the Board of Allegany County Commissioners will appropriate $30,000 in the coming budget. The Board of Education has requested this sum for the purpose, he declared, and the final decision now rests with the County Commissioners.

A similar request was made last year, Mr. Jackson noted, but the County Commissioners eliminated the item from the School Board budget.

Changing Standards
"Since the turn of the century," he said, "there has been a radical change in the standards set for judging educational values. Before 1900, a person was considered well educated if he held a grammar school diploma. By 1920, a person had to possess at least a high school diploma before he was accepted as well educated. We will soon reach the time when at least two years college work will be demanded as 'standard education.'"

Mr. Jackson said, "it is important that we start now to make at least two-year after high school low cost training available to our boys and girls. We should assure those now in our elementary schools, and their parents, that they will have the chance to pursue their education beyond high school, if they wish to do so. This can be done here by establishing a new Community College."

Should Start Now
"We should start now to plan the opening of such a college this fall," Mr. Jackson continued, "and the outcome of the controversy over Frostburg State Teachers College should not affect our thinking. If Frostburg remains a State Teachers College, we will need a Community College in Cumberland. If Frostburg is made a center of the University of Maryland, the need will be as great. If the name 'Teacher' is dropped, and Frostburg becomes a liberal arts college known as Frostburg College, we will still need a Community College," he outlined.

"Delay in giving the youth of Allegany County educational advantages that it is within our power to give them can no longer be justified," Mr. Jackson continued.

Nine In Maryland
"There are now," he said, "nine community colleges or junior colleges in Maryland—one each in Baltimore City, Charles County, Prince Georges County, Frederick County, Washington County, Harford County, Montgomery County and two in Baltimore County. More Boards of Education, in more counties, are planning to establish Community Colleges this year, or in the near future. Montgomery County has as part of its five-year plan, the establishment of four more Community Colleges."

"A Community College would not only provide a more comprehensive program of education for the youth of the county, but it would relieve some of the pressure on the four year colleges of the state."

Accredited Program
"A Community College," he continued, "would make available to the graduates of our high schools a two-year fully accredited college program, during which time our young people could remain at home. This would be a financial boon for the parents. At the end of the second year, young men and women could transfer to the junior year of a college or university of their choice."

Mr. Jackson cited, "In neighboring Washington County, a Community College, or Junior College, as they call it, was established in 1946 with an enrollment of 100 students. Today, this college has 400 full-time students. They expect to increase their load 600 students by 1965, and eventually handle 1,500 full-time students. It is interesting to note," he pointed out, "that in Washington County, 40 per cent of all young people who go to college from high school, attend the Hagerstown Junior College."

Low Cost Education
"The vitality of a Democracy," he continued, "depends upon the development of the capacities of its citizens both for self-realization and for the common good." On the assumption that the growth of the individual is a continuing process, the American public school system, both in theory and in practice, is designed to provide the fulfillment of this ideal of Democracy. This concept implies that education beyond high school is a public responsibility and that a large portion of the population will benefit from it.

Aid To Industry
Mr. Jackson further observed, "It has been pointed out that certain courses offered in a Community College will benefit employed of industries of the county, and by so doing, benefit the industries themselves. This is undoubtedly true, and is a good point to use when trying to entice new industries into the community. Yet, our main objective is helping the youth of the county."

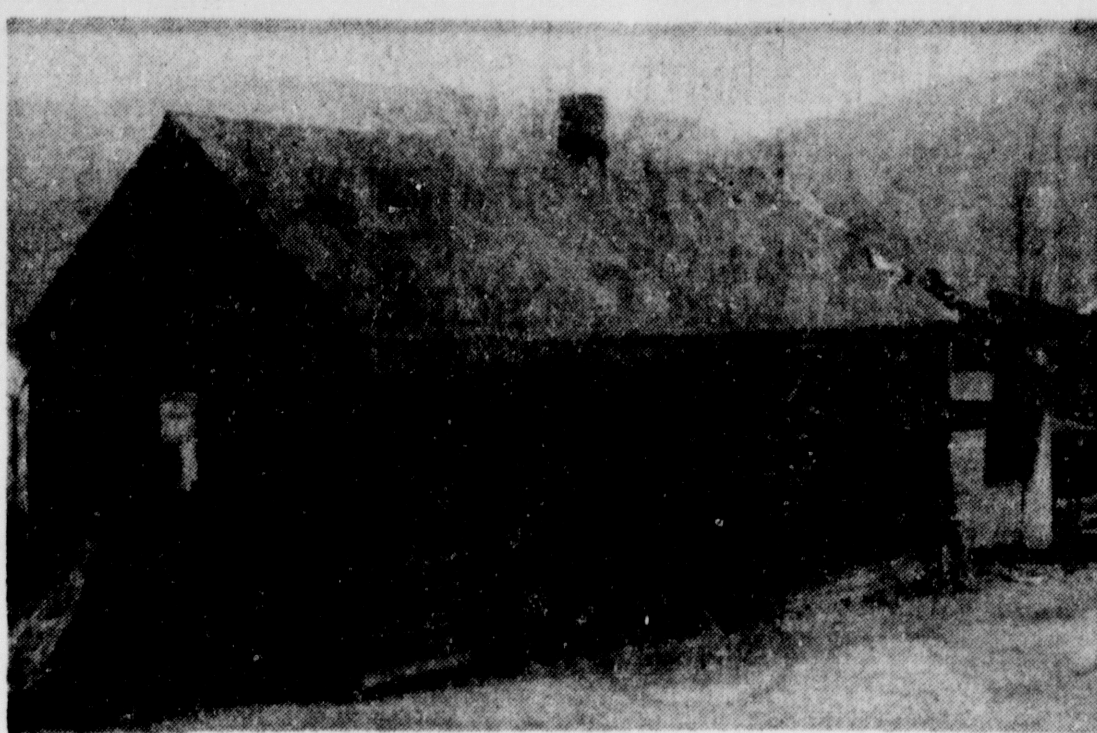

"We believe the boys and girls of Allegany County are equal to, or better than, the boys and girls of any county in the state. We believe our boys and girls deserve an education, at county level, equal to, or better than any offered in any county in Maryland."

"By providing education beyond the high school we are giving our young people the opportunity to prepare themselves for the demands that will be made upon them by the Age in which they live."

"By giving them this opportunity," he concluded, "the county, state and nation will benefit by the type of citizens we will be able to produce."

Bloomington Home Gutted By Fire

This is all that is left of the dwelling of Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Hamilton and their family of four small children, after fire from an over-heated stove ravaged the building.

Fire Ravages Dwelling In Bloomington

BLOOMINGTON — A four-room frame bungalow, believed to be one of the oldest houses in Bloomington, was destroyed by fire yesterday.

Occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Hamilton and their four preschool age children, the home was gutted by the flames that apparently resulted from an over-heated stove in a bedroom of the residence.

The father discovered the fire about 11 a. m. and three fire-fighting units answered the alarm. Responding were the Bloomington Company, Tri-Towns Company of Piedmont and Potomac Company of Westport.

Hamilton's wife, the former Miss Delores Wilt, suffered severe burns of the right arm and also burns about the face, apparently suffered in helping bring two younger children to safety and in attempting to save some of the family's belongings. Nothing was saved from the residence, firemen said.

Hamilton is employed as a miner by the Mountain Top Coal Company of Lonaconing.

Mr. and Mrs. Hamilton were both in the house when the fire started and the blaze was discovered in a bedroom by Mr. Hamilton. He carried their 16-month-old child Jerry to safety, and Mrs. Hamilton ran to the crib for the youngest child, David, age three months. Mrs. Hamilton suffered burns about her right arm and her hair was badly singed, as she ran to safety through the flames, carrying the baby.

Two other children, William age 4 and Richard age 3 were playing in the back yard at the time.

Mrs. Hamilton was taken to a neighbor's and was treated by a physician for the burns.

The property was an old structure, owned by the G. C. Plattison Estate. Some of the older residents said it had been originally a blacksmith shop and had been converted into a dwelling many years ago.

The Hamiltons are staying, for the present with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Hamilton at Beryl.

One Out Of Seven Workers Unemployed In W. Virginia

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—The State Department of Employment Security's first official estimate of unemployment in West Virginia showed Monday that one out of every seven workers in the Mountain State is out of a job.

Department Director Clement R. Bassett said that according to a new formula worked out by the federal office, 95,200 West Virginians were without jobs last month, 600 more than January.

"That means that 15 per cent of West Virginia's labor force of 635,900 is without work," Bassett said. "During February, 1960, 68,400 were out of work, or 10.7 per cent."

Heretofore, the department has issued only unofficial estimates of unemployment, mainly because of a lack of adequate reporting procedures, Bassett said. However, the national office put a new formula into effect last January and from now on the state office will make official unemployment estimates each month.

The same report showed that employment dropped from 541,400 in January to 540,800 last month. Total employment last month was down nearly 29 per cent below the 569,400 reported for February, 1960.

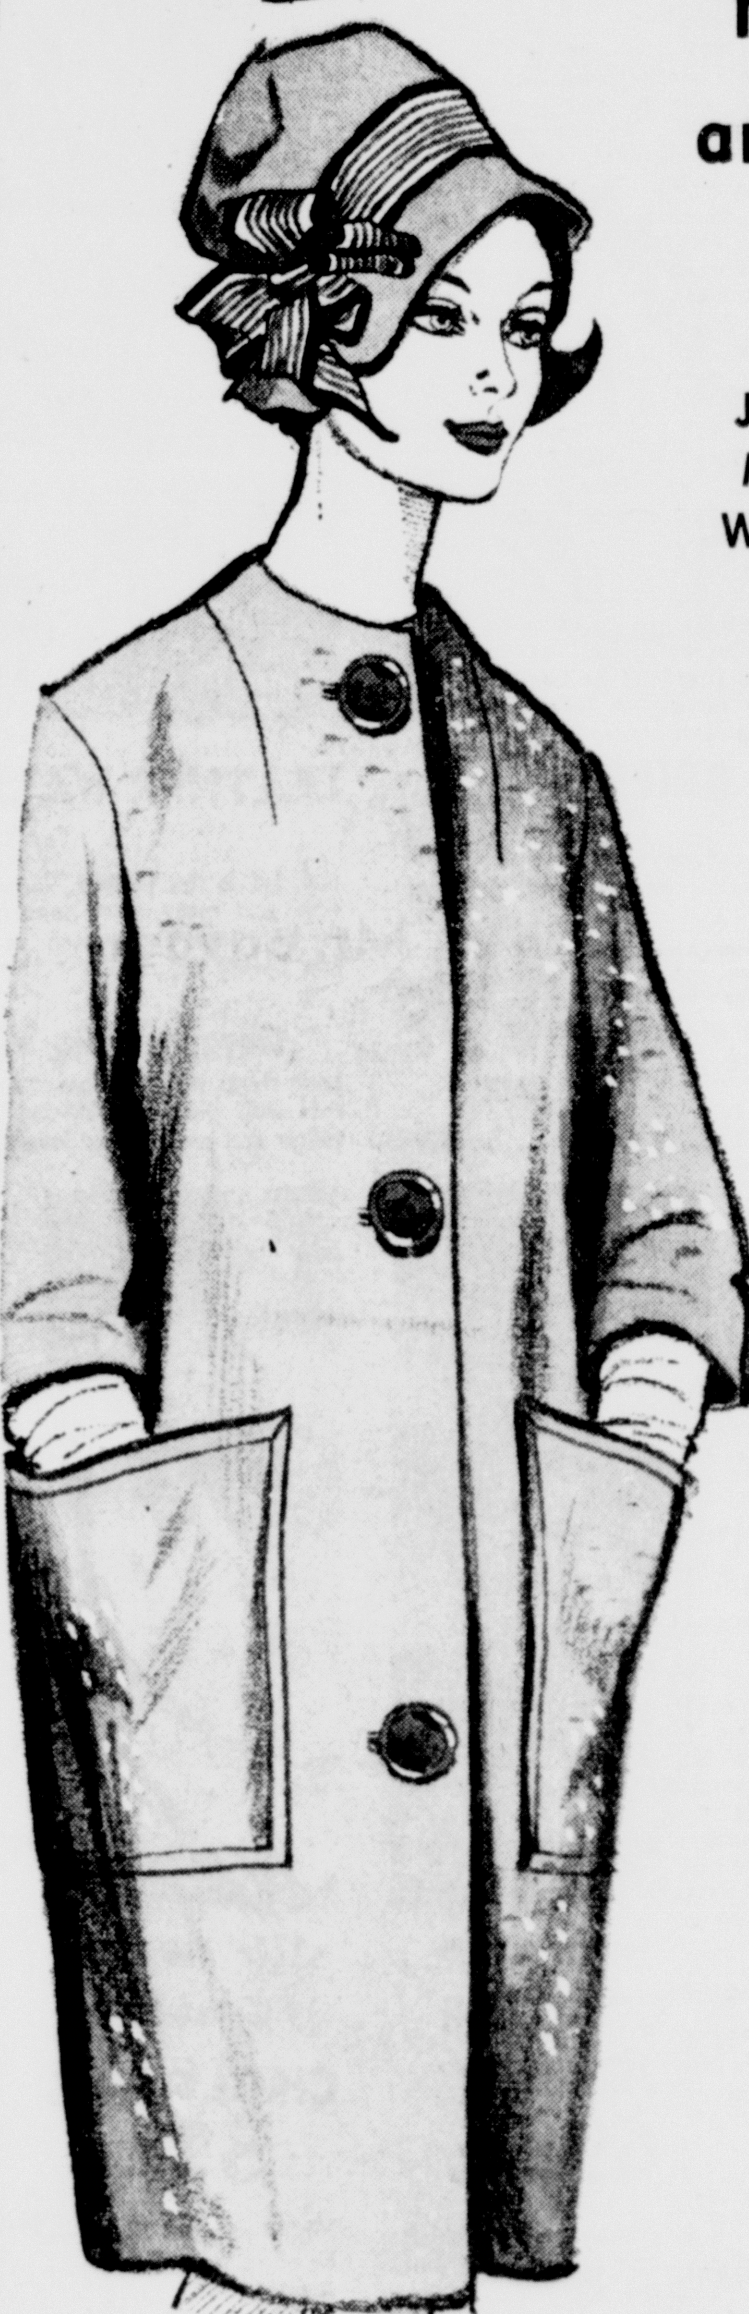

Non-farm jobs at mid-February totaled 426,800, a drop of 4,600 below January and 30,600 below February of last year, Bassett said. Manufacturing payrolls, which tend to edge up during February, dropped by 100 to 117,200.

Non-manufacturing reported 4,400 fewer jobs during February of unemployment when payrolls totaled 309,800. The February total was 20,600 below year-ago levels.

Fleming Says B&O Should Fix Rail Crossing

Police and Fire Commissioner Philmore Fleming announced yesterday that the Western Maryland Railway crossing on Baltimore Street will be closed Wednesday from 7:30 a.m. until noon.

The Western Maryland requested the closing, he said. Fleming told the Mayor and Council he did not like to close a crossing at the height of the Easter shopping season but that the move was necessary as a safety measure.

At the same time, Fleming urged council to take action concerning the B&O Railroad and the condition of its crossings. Mentioned specifically were the Baltimore Street and Franklin Street crossings which he said are in bad condition.

Council decided to have the city attorney, William R. Carscaden, write the B&O explaining the situation and the city's feelings in the matter after Fleming said "I think an ultimatum should be issued."

Fleming said B&O and city officials met eight months ago concerning repairs to the Baltimore Street site and the only plan the B&O had was to close it for two weeks.

Fleming said he refused and when he asked if the B&O could work around-the-clock in repairing as utilities do, he said he was told the railroad could not because it "had men laid off." Fleming said he was told then by representatives that they had to report to their superiors before calling him back on a possible solution.

"That was eight months ago and I haven't heard anything since," Fleming added.

Fleming said Police Chief B. Frank Gaffney concurred in refusing to allow the crossing to be closed for two weeks. That would have taken 12 men to re-route traffic and cost the city considerable money, he said.

The city suggested closing half the crossing at a time or running a ballast road around it during repairs, but apparently the city proposals did not suit the railroad. Fleming continued. He said his department gets complaints about the crossing condition every day, then added that city has cooperated with the B&O "time and after time. That should work both ways."

Recently, Fleming continued, the department wrote the B&O concerning one passenger car blocked the Union Street crossing for 26 minutes.

If the city does not get cooperation, it is time to take action, Fleming said, then added that he believed the people of the city and visitors deserve good crossings.

Mayor J. Edwin Keech said yesterday afternoon he hopes a mutually agreeable crossing solution can be worked out by the City and the B&O.

He said that when the new classification yards are in full operation, most of the conditions at the Baltimore Street crossing will be alleviated.

Commissioner G. Ray Light asked who was legally responsible for the crossings and Carscaden said the railroad is responsible.

Fleming also took note of the parking survey being conducted by the Retail Merchants Association which began yesterday. He expressed the wish that merchants had contacted the department about the survey so that reasons for parking regulations could have been explained.

Schools List Easter Recess

Public and parochial schools have announced the Easter holiday schedule.

Public schools will close at the end of the session Thursday and will reopen next Tuesday, April 4. SS. Peter and Paul School will close Wednesday and reopen April 4. Classes at St. Patrick's and Catholic Girls Central High School will close Wednesday at noon and reopen April 6.

The situation at St. Mary's Parochial School is somewhat different with classes closing Wednesday at 2 p. m. and the children will be notified when to report back.

This has resulted from the plans to start demolition of the old school building early next week.

Children attending St. Mary's have been going to school on Saturdays and various holidays in order to build up a credit for a long vacation during the transition from the old to new schools.

A modern school and convent have been constructed on the church property on Oldtown Road and church officials felt that it would be best to have the children out of school while the razing of the old buildings was underway purely in the interest of safety.

The Saturday and holiday classes was decided upon in order to make this possible. The children will have attended the necessary number of days in the school year as provided by law.

Zoologists believe they have discovered how jellyfish can tell which way is up. A small organ called the lithocyst, situated at the base of the tentacles, contains a freely moving granule which falls on sensory hairs around it. The granule corresponds to the fluid in the semicircular canals of vertebrates.

Korean Problem Far From Solved

Korea is still an unsolved problem. The question of its political status seems to have been solved, after a fashion, by what appears like permanent division into a Communist north and an independent south.

But the Communists have all the best of this deal. The north has more resources to support its people, and fewer people to support.

South Korea, containing most of the population, cannot support itself either now or in the foreseeable future. Industrial potential is low and there is too little arable land.

But the problem of more mouths to feed than food to fill them is compounded by the presence of refugees from Communist tyranny and by an explosive birth rate. The present population of the Republic of Korea is 23 million. It figures to be 28 million 10 years from now.

About all that keeps South Korea going is massive American aid. Neither Koreans nor Americans want this to be permanent. The only trouble is that no other answer is in sight.

Unemployment is high, approximating 25 per cent. Prices rise more sharply in South Korea than in most nations afflicted by inflation.

The obvious answer, if the Communists would agree, would be reunification of Korea, which as a whole would be more economically viable. The plight of the South Koreans, in any case, is pathetic. After half a century under harsh Japanese rule, they find themselves independent but cut off from their economic complement by Communist tyranny.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

The Laotian War

The question might be asked why the President chooses to make his stand at Laos against Communist aggression, rather than in the Congo or Cuba. The answer is that while Cuba would be easier, a demarche on that country would involve us in difficulties with the Organization of American States at this time; a military support of one faction or another in the Congo might lead to a breakdown of relations with other new African nations most of which are undecided as to whose money to take.

Laos, however, is a clear-cut legalistic position, based on our support of SEATO to which we are bound by Treaty. The South East Asian Treaty Organization was formed by the United States. In accordance with the agreements reached at the Manila and Bangkok Conferences in 1954 and 1955, the freedom of Cambodia, Laos and South Vietnam was guaranteed by SEATO. The Conferences were attended by Britain, the United States, Australia, New Zealand, the Philippines, Pakistan, Thailand and France.

Here then is a positive commitment. The fact that Soviet Russia agreed to the general settlement of the Indo-China question does not matter as much as that at Manila and Bangkok, the United States made a pledge and undertook a responsibility.

The South East Asian Defense Treaty was agreed to in September 1954 at Manila in the Philippines. Article 4 Section b of this treaty declares:

"(b) If in the opinion of any of the parties the inviolability or the integrity of the territory or the sovereignty or political independence of any party in the treaty area or of any other State or territory to which the provisions of paragraph (a) of this Article from time to time apply is threatened in any way other than by armed attack, or is affected or threatened by any act or situation which might endanger the peace of the area, the parties shall consult immediately in order to agree on the measures which should be taken for the common defence."

There can be no question but that this clause takes us directly into the Laos situation. Geography determines that.

A protocol added to the Treaty spells out our responsibilities in connection with Laos:

"... The parties to the South East Asia collective defence treaty unanimously designate for the purposes of Article 4 of the treaty the States of Cambodia and Laos and the free territory under the jurisdiction of the State of Vietnam."

Further, the Pacific Charter was formulated. This Charter stated in its fourth article:

"... as decreed in the South East Asia collective defence treaty, they are determined to prevent or counter by appropriate means any attempt in the treaty area to subvert freedom or to destroy their sovereignty or territorial integrity."

Thus here is a clear case, whereas in the Congo, from a legalistic standpoint, we can only act on behalf of the United Nations and therefore could be involved in the absurd strategy of the Korean War which was fought without a military objective against an enemy which was given a sanctuary that our troops could not enter. In a word, under the United Nations, defeat is assured.

If our stand were taken in Cuba, which it will have to be ultimately, the United States might risk an antagonistic majority in the General Assembly of the United Nations and in the Organization of American States.

It does not really matter where we make our stand as long as we make one. Since 1945, the United States has pursued a policy of attempting to talk a war out of existence. During the whole of this long period, Soviet Russia and Red China have made enormous gains in Asia, Africa and Latin America. The United States has made progress nowhere. It has been a weak policy, frightfully costly in the wealth of this nation and sapping the vital energy of the American people. The so-called Cold War has been a continuous war by other means than shot and shell.

President Kennedy has made the first real stand against the enemy in this Cold War since the Berlin Airlift. In this posture, he has the support of both Republicans and Democrats in the Congress. This means that he is supported by the entire American people, except those who are voluntary servants of Soviet policy.

Laos Crisis Is Kennedy's First Telling Episode

By Joseph Alsop

IDLEWILD AIRPORT. In an hour or so, the big jet will engorge its passengers bound for Tokyo, for Bangkok and even, in this reporter's case, for Laos. In the characteristic atmosphere of a great airport, half agonizing boredom and half desperate bustle, it is not easy to see events with clarity.

Yet it seems quite clear, all the same, that the Laos crisis has been the first genuinely revealing, truly telling episode of the Kennedy Administration.

Here was a mess inherited by the new President from his predecessors, and a mess, too, which America's chief allies were begging the new President to wash his hands of. His advisors told him that if he washed his hands of Laos, all of Southeast Asia would go down the drain thereafter. His own instincts told him that if he risked war for Laos, and war came, he and his party might well go down the drain in 1964. How then did the new President respond?

His response, to begin with, was the opposite of impulsive. Events may prove, indeed, that it was overly cautious and prudent.

Last Tuesday, the President at length made his odd, characteristic gesture of final decision — briefly tapping his desk, as though to summon luck from the wood — and announced his readiness to send American troops to Laos if the Soviets persisted in refusing a negotiated settlement. Yet this climactic instant was not reached before every other imaginable alternative had been exhaustively studied at an interminable series of earlier White House meetings.

The meetings began, indeed, the day before Inauguration, when Kennedy went to the White House for a final briefing by his predecessor. In the presence of President Eisenhower, former Secretary of State Christian A. Herter then warned President Kennedy that the Laos crisis might eventually require American military intervention. Even then, in fact, the outgoing administration had reached the view revealed by President Eisenhower, when he approved President Kennedy's harsh Laos decision at a brief press conference in Palm Springs.

In the long interval between Jan. 19 and last Tuesday, a long sequence of other expedients had first been tested. "Neutralization" of Laos had been endorsed. Through the U. S. Ambassador to Moscow, Llewellyn Thompson Jr.,

Nikita S. Khrushchev had been directly approached. Almost at the moment when Thompson was meeting with Khrushchev, urgent measures to strengthen the local anti-Communist forces in Laos had been ordered — and preparations for American intervention had also been set on foot.

Yet until the beginning of last week, when the Communist Army in Laos won further key points, the preparations to intervene were merely precautionary. The deterioration of the local situation was what forced the final decision; and even after this decision had been taken, Kennedy still moved with prudence and caution.

There was caution in the President's last-minute acceptance of PAY INCREASE—A move to give federal cabinet-level officials and other top government employees sizeable pay increases has been nipped in the bud by the White House.

The idea, backed by the Budget Bureau, the Civil Service Commission and experts on some Congressional committee, would have granted raises to $30,000 a year for Cabinet members, $27,500 for under secretaries and $25,000 to top assistant secretaries, members of U. S. Commissions, etc.

The raises would range about $7,800 a year for those affected. The proposal stemmed from a growing realization that top echelon government pay scales must be brought into line competitively with those of private business and industry.

Nonetheless, it all came to a grinding halt when a White House official expressed the view that the raises would be inappropriate during the recession when the president is calling on the nation for sacrifices.

Even with this action, however, proponents have not given up. They look toward an early end of the recession, and tentatively plan to press their proposal again toward the end of the year when better business and employment conditions may take the sting out of legislation to permit these pay raises.

Drug Found To Improve Failing Memory

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

A team of Canadian physicians reported recently that ribonucleic acid (RNA) has a beneficial effect upon memory. Dr. D. Ewen Cameron and Dr. Leslie Solyom of Montreal gave the product to 84 elderly and senile patients to determine whether it would reverse or arrest failing memory. Improvement was noted in more than half of this group.

But memory is difficult to test in the elderly because it varies with their interest and general health. The Canadians used various psychological tests to determine retention and conditioned reflexes.

In addition, they obtained detailed descriptions of the memory failure from relatives and friends as well as from the patient. They checked on whether the individual forgot names or numbers and whether he could remember at a later date what he could not recall at the moment. Of these old-timers, 41 were recent stroke victims and suffered from mood changes in addition to being forgetful.

A second group of 43 men and women from geriatric wards were given the same treatment. Their mental deterioration was much farther advanced. Some of this group were given RNA and others received placebos. The results in those who took RNA were rather impressive in that more than half were improved or much improved. The retention span was much better and the oldsters were more alert and interested and showed more initiative and confidence. The patients and their relatives were aware of the improvement, especially in recalling numbers and names.

The subjects appeared to be healthier; they were less confused and irritable and changes in judgment were noted. The effect in moderately advanced memory failure was better than in marked memory impairment.

There is no use rushing to the drug store for a supply of RNA, as it is not available. Further study will be needed to confirm the results of the Canadian researchers. It is important to note that the drug helped failing memory or prevented further deterioration along this line. It does not improve normal memory.

Biggest Rigging Of TV Commercials Staged By GOP In 1952 Campaign

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — The Senate Freedom of Information Committee has been doing a good job of investigating the question of equal time for candidates on TV-Radio stations. However, it hasn't had the time or money to dig deeper into the powerful background voice of the Madison Avenue advertising agencies which shape network shows and influence politics.

The weight of the advertising agencies and the big advertisers behind them is more potent than the public ever realizes.

In the files of the Senate Committee is one of the best illustrations of this—namely, the manner in which big operation advertisers who favored the Republicans gave up TV time, which the Democrats couldn't buy, in favor of the famous TV commercials filmed by Eisenhower in 1952.

The House Oversight Committee made headlines with its expose of rigged TV shows some time ago, but the biggest rigging of TV commercials was probably that staged by the Republicans in the 1952 campaign with Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower as their star actor.

Even though it happened some time ago, the inside story has never been told. It illustrates the power that Madison Avenue and big advertisers have over public thinking and voting.

TV Mastermind

Mastermind of Ike's rigged TV spots was Rosser Reeves, now head of the Ted Bates Agency which since then has been in more trouble with the Federal Trade Commission over rigged commercials than any other advertising agency.

Reeves wrote a confidential recommendation to top Republicans pointing out that voting in certain key population areas of the United States such as New York, Chicago and Los Angeles could swing the election, and that big advertisers, all of them Republican, could relinquish TV time at the last minute which the Democrats couldn't buy — since Republican advertisers had purchased it a year in advance.

Reeves suggested to GOP strategists that Jack Whitney, later Ike's Ambassador to London, Henry Ford, Sidney Weinberg, and other big contributors could raise the money for the rigged commercials. As a result about $2,000,000 was finally put into this part of the campaign.

Reeves' Ted Bates Agency was picked to film the commercials and Lester Weinrott, expert TV producer, then with Ted Bates, did the actual work. Mrs. Arden Bucholz of Munsey Park, L.I., the original Betty Crocker, was picked to pose as the housewife who asked the questions of Gen. Eisenhower, while Jack Brinckley of Chicago, one of the first radio announcers, was hired to ask male question of Ike.

The public which later watched Eisenhower answer such questions on TV as "General, what would you do to clean up the mess in Washington?" had no idea that actors had been hired to ask them, or that the answers had been written out for the Presidential candidate on "idiot cards."

Idiot cards are heavy paste-board cards with letters printed on them in crayon large enough so they can be read at some distance. The answers were written by the Ted Bates Agency, then rewritten by Ike's brother Milton. What The Public Heard

One of the most effective questions which the public heard Eisenhower answer on TV during the last three weeks of the campaign was: "Mr. Eisenhower, you know what things cost today. High prices are driving me crazy." "Yes," replied Eisenhower in the TV film, "My wife Mamie gets after me about the high cost of living. It's another reason why I say—it's time for a change—time to get back to an honest dollar and an honest dollar's worth of living."

The voting public, watching this brief and effective film, had no idea that actors were hired to ask the questions and that the answer was written in advance. Nor did they have any idea that the Presidential candidate spent three days of precious campaigning time in a Long Island Film Studio in front of the motion-picture cameras.

Mr. Weinrott, the expert who directed the film shots, was careful to have the camera play up Eisenhower's face big in one corner of the film as he talked down at his questioner in the corner. The actors had their backs to the camera and thus the faces could not be seen.

As Weinrott explained it afterward: "Our idea was to portray General Eisenhower as the father image talking to the American people."

"He was very patient and a good sport in shooting scene after scene over again. The only trouble we had with him was after lunch on one day when he came back wearing a blue suit. In the morning he had worn a brown suit, so we had to send his chauffeur back to pick up the brown suit, so we couldn't have him wearing a different kind of suit in shots that we had to splice together."

One of the actors, Jack Brinckley, said that Eisenhower was easy to work with, though the General had found it difficult to answer the questions unless someone actually asked them in person. He didn't like looking at the little red light on the TV camera, but had to look at a person in the flesh instead.

Thus was filmed one of the biggest series of rigged TV commercials in history, far more influential and more important than the rigged TV quiz shows which brought such headlines when investigated by Congress.

What Did He Say?

By John Crosby

Something has got to be done about those televised press conferences of President Kennedy's. They remind me of a Chinese dinner. You eat and eat of a dozen different dishes—but an hour later you find yourself hungry.

Now you take a question such as that asked by an unnamed correspondent at the last television fiesta: "Mr. President, could you tell us, sir, what in your opinion this country has obtained out of its roughly $310,000,000 worth of aid sent in the past six or seven years to Laos?" Just around tax time it's a question I'd like to know the answer to. The President's reply was, as so many of his replies are, quick-witted. "Well, Laos is not yet a Communist country and it's my hope that it will not be."

That's one of those answers that seems to have everything. "The money has landed and the situation is well in hand." That kind of answer. "We have deposited the money and it has just begun to fight." There's a clash of cymbals, a sounding of trumpets, a note of patriotic defiance, and off to the next question.

But did anything really get answered there? Laos is not Communist yet but things are certainly not going well. And what did happen to that $310,000,000? I can remember when $310,000,000 was considered an awful lot of foreign aid, for that matter, anything else. How can you spend $310,000,000? The word is whispered around that mostly it was wasted. But how can you even waste $310,000,000?

As an exercise in the resourcefulness of President Kennedy, I am overwhelmed with admiration. He has managed to shoot the rapids quite a few times now without tipping over. He has either answered or sidestepped questions on many, many subjects without endangering either domestic or foreign relations. But I don't know that that is quite the idea of a press conference.

The trouble with that $310,000,000 question—admittedly an embarrassing one—is that its having been asked at a Presidential press conference, than which there is nothing higher, the man at home gets the idea that it's been answered. And it hasn't.

Just as a show, half the fun is to let the press room at will through the President's capacious mind. But, frankly, I think too many different kinds of questions are asked at these affairs and in no particular order. At that press conference, which stuck closer to one subject than any other—Laos—the President still had to answer questions along long term loans, a summit meeting with Khrushchev, book publication, segregation in federal housing projects, and a couple of other very large subjects.

Unless you're a better man than I am, the total impression is what did he say? what did he say? In fact, the one clear note struck at the beginning was that the United States intended to stick by Laos—and that was struck in the prepared part of his press conference. I like this part of the conference best. The President is concise and to the point; the message is clear: above all, it's positive rather than reactive, as is most of the press conference.

For all its air of vigor and youth, and in spite of all the bustle and, I think, real movement in Washington, the philosophical coherence of this Administration remains low and I think one of the reasons for this is the form in which information comes out of these press conferences, in bits and pieces.

We are asked to assemble it all ourselves and I don't think the electorate can do that, even if it wants to. I suppose one of the reasons I get to feeling hungry an hour later is that, after forty minutes of press conference, I don't really know what's on the President's mind. I'm much more aware of what's on the press's mind. I suppose affirmation is the word I'm groping for here. The fireside chats should be a step in the right direction.

Potomac State Tossers Open With Montgomery Today

Keyser Scene Of Collegians Doubleheader

Opener At 1 P.M., Tentative Lineup Announced By Fox

The first game of the 1961 baseball season in the tri-state area is scheduled today at Keyser where Coach John Fox's Potomac State State College Catamounts are slated to meet Montgomery Junior College of Takoma Park, Md., in a doubleheader commencing at 1 p. m.

Montgomery and Potomac are members of the Tri-State Junior College Conference and today's games are among eight listed for the Catamounts in that circuit. The Keyser tossers are scheduled to tackle a 22-game schedule this year.

Bill Funkhouser, of Virginia, who posted a 3-1 record for the Cats last year, is slated to work on the firing line in the opening game while either Lefty Dave Wilson, of Keyser, or Ronnie Engle, of Frederick, will twirl in the nightcap. Wilson and Engle are also sophomores. Dave was 3-1 and Ronnie 2-3 last season.

Cats' Tentative Lineup

Potomac's tentative starting lineup includes Tom Hawkins, Arlington, Va., first base; Stanley Kolodziezki, of New Jersey, second base; Ted Femi, former Allegheny High and Cumberland American Legion player, shortstop; Ron Kuykendall, Keyser, third base; Jim Chidester, Keyser, centerfield; Robert Shaw, Keyser, left field; Maurice Tenney, Buckhannon, W. Va., right field, and Hank Cleary, of New Jersey, catcher. Kolodziezki, Femi, Chidester and Robert Shaw are freshmen.

Other players on the Potomac roster include infielder Frank McGinn, freshmen, catchers Altem Tuffield and Joe Pugh, freshmen, outfielders Mike Chermello, sophomore, and Pete Fishback, freshman, and pitcher Dick Rawlings, freshman.

Last season Potomac lost its first two games to Montgomery at Takoma Park by scores of 4-3 and 8-4 but wound up the season with a 10-5 record. The Cats posted an 8-0 record at home and were 2-5 on the road. Potomac did not field a team in 1959 but the previous year the Keyser team split even with Montgomery on the latter's field, losing 3-2 and winning 17-5.

Fox's Fourth Season

John Fox, a native New Yorker, begins his fourth season as baseball mentor at Potomac. His teams have won 31, lost 16 and played one tie game.

Alinco Whips Jerry's, 67-63, In Rec Playoffs

Robinson's Plumbers Gain Semi-Finals

Alinco Club, co-holders of first place in the Men's Rec Basketball League, eliminated Jerry's Beauty Salon, 67-63, last night in the semi-final playoffs at Allegany High School gym.

In the opening clash of last night's doubleheader at Allegany, Robinson's Plumbers downed the Marine Reserve, 44-34, in a battle for fourth place and will meet the other co-leader, Fulton Myers Legion Post, in a semi-final game tonight at 8 o'clock on the Campbell school floor.

Alinco held the lead at the quarters, 18-12, 36-33 and 52-49, but was able to hold onto its edge only after the score was tied three times and the lead changed hands eight times in the third stanza. Pete Wageley gave Alinco the lead 50-49 with a minute to play in the quarter, then hit from the field again to put the winners ahead 52-49 as the period ended. Alinco never trailed after that point.

Bob Kirk led the Alinco scorers with 18 points while Wageley and LeRoy Morris chipped in with 14 each. High scorer for Jerry's was Ed Truly with 17 tallies.

In the match for fourth place in the Men's Rec League, Robinson's Plumbers jumped off to an 11-5 lead in the first quarter and held on for a 10-point triumph. Lonnie Lewis was the scoring leader for Robinson's with 13 points. Jim Weakley also tallied 13 in a losing cause for the Marines.

In a 7 o'clock engagement to night at Allegany the Police Boys Club and Dressman's Market will begin a best-of-three final playoff for the title in the High School Rec Basketball League. The game was moved ahead from Wednesday to become part of tonight's twin bargain. The lineups:

Cleveland Pipers To Join New Loop

CLEVELAND (UPI)—The Cleveland Pipers announced Monday it would turn professional next season and join the newly-formed American Basketball League, a move which has been under consideration for months.

The decision was announced 48 hours after the Pipers won the national AAU championship in their second year of competition in the amateur National Basketball League, formerly known as the National Industrial Basketball League.

Knicks Draft Tom Stith, Chicago Picks Bellamy

Siegfried Chosen By Cincy; Ray Scott Is Detroit Choice

By JIM VAN VALKENBURG Associated Press Sports Writer

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Indiana's Walt Bellamy—best of the giants—and St. Bonaventure's Tom Stith—a great shooter—were the first two choices in the National Basketball Association draft Monday. Then the little-known players took the spotlight.

Chicago, the NBA's ninth and newest franchise, took the 6-foot-11 Bellamy as expected. The New York Knickerbockers, with the worst record in the NBA last season, had the next choice and took the 6-foot-5 Stith.

"Stith is the closest to Elgin Baylor (Los Angeles Lakers great scorer) that I've seen," said Ned Irish, president of the Knicks.

But the pickings were slim indeed, in the 6-9 to 6-11 category among college seniors this season. Some NBA clubs reached into the Army, the Eastern League and the National Basketball League in the hunt for big men.

Detroit Picks Scott

Detroit, with the fourth choice, took Ray Scott, 6-foot-9, who has played three seasons with Allentown, Pa., in the Eastern League after flunking out of Portland U. His class graduated this year.

Syracuse named Ben Warley, 6-7 former Tennessee A & I player now with Cleveland of the NBL. Players in the NBL are amateurs.

Other less-publicized players chosen in the first round were Wayne Yates, of Memphis State by Los Angeles; Tom Meschery, of St. Mary's, Calif., by Philadelphia; Cleo Hill, of Winston-Salem, N.C., by St. Louis; and Gary Phillips of Houston by Boston.

Cincinnati's first round choice was Larry Siegfried, teammate of Ohio State All-American Jerry Lucas, still a junior.

Drafted By Other Loop

There is bound to be some competition between the NBA and the new American Basketball League, although NBA President Maurice Podoloff said the NBA anticipates no monetary battle and he insists the new league anticipates no trouble. Bellamy has been drafted by the ABL's Chicago entry, Stith by Pittsburgh and Meschery by San Francisco.

The second round of the NBA draft also produced some sleepers, chiefly Ron Horn, 6-foot-7 all-Army player who was taken by St. Louis. Horn played as a freshman with Bellamy at Indiana, then joined the Army.

Sweitzer's Takes Lead In Shuffle Playoffs

Sweitzer's Restaurant took a 31-point lead over the Knights of Columbus, winning the first three-game match in the semi-finals of the Frostburg Shuffleboard League playoffs, 80-49, on their home boards last night. High scorers were George Rendar with 21 for Sweitzer's and Ed Jackson with 17 for the Knights of Columbus.

The next match in the six-game total points contest will shift to the K of C boards on Thursday night at 8:30.

In tonight's other semi-finals the Frostburg American Legion will host the Frostburg Republican Club in the first three games at 8:30 with the second series set for Thursday at the Legion home.

Jackson Has Jaw Broken

Cards Hurler Hurt In Loss To Dodgers

VERO BEACH, Fla. (UPI) — Larry Jackson, an 18-game winner for the St. Louis Cardinals last year, suffered a fracture of the lower jaw Monday during an exhibition game won by the Los Angeles Dodgers, 11-2.

Jackson was taken by ambulance to Indian River Memorial Hospital in Vero Beach after he was struck on the left cheek by a portion of Duke Snider's splintered bat. The mishap occurred in the sixth inning.

Wilhelm Is Victor

MIAMI (UPI) — Hoyt Wilhelm, oldest member of the Baltimore Orioles' pitching staff at 37, became the first hurler Monday to go the distance as the Birds' "B" squad defeated the Richmond Virginians of the International League, 2-1.

The knuckleball master scattered five hits, fanned seven and walked two. The only tally he permitted came in the seventh on a passed ball by rookie catcher Dave Massarelli.

Fisher Kayoed As Twins Win

Minnesota Downs Baltimore, 12-9

ORLANDO, Fla. (AP) — Jose Valdivielso homered and doubled to drive in four runs and lead the Minnesota Twins to a 12-9 victory over the Baltimore Orioles in a free-swinging baseball exhibition game Monday.

Tom McAvoy, the second of four Minnesota pitchers, and Dan Dobbek, also homered, for the Twins. The winners' 13-hit attack included a triple by Hal Naragong and doubles by Zorro Versalles, Elmer Valo, Ron Henry and Lamar Orioles.

The Orioles clouted three home runs, by Marv Breeding, Jerry Adair and Dave Philley and had a pair of doubles off the bats of Adair and Ron Samford.

Jack Fisher, kayoed during the Twins' five-run seventh inning, was the losing pitcher. The victory went to lefty Jim Constable, who gave up three runs in his two innings, the seventh and eighth.

Baltimore jumped to a 4-0 lead in the first two innings, capitalizing on seven bases on balls by Minnesota starter Ralph Lumbert.

The Twins' exhibition record is 7-10, while Baltimore is 7-9.

LAKELAND

Cumberland Schools List 16 Grid Games At Stadium

LaSalle Plays Sentinels On September 8

Fort Hill Has 7 At Home; Campers, Explorers 6 Each

Cumberland high schools will play 16 football games at Fort Hill Stadium next fall, commencing with the first of three intra-city contests on Friday, September 8 between Fort Hill and LaSalle.

Coach Charles Lattimer's Fort Hill Sentinels will play seven of their ten games at the Greenway Avenue bowl while Allegany and LaSalle will make six home appearances each.

Windier To Play Here

Fort Hill's home games are with LaSalle, Martinsburg, Beall, North Hagerstown, Windber, Keyser and Allegany.

Coach Ed Schwarz's Allegany Campers face Keyser, South Hagerstown, LaSalle, Frederick, Westminster and Fort Hill while the Explorers oppose Fort Hill, Berlin, Keyser, Allegany, Ridgeley and the West Virginia School for the Deaf at the stadium.

Allegany won the city championship last year by defeating LaSalle and Fort Hill and swept through the Cumberland Valley Athletic League with a 6-0 record. The Campers were 10-0 last season and have won their last 12 games since their last defeat in the 1959 campaign.

This year Allegany will play four of its six C.V.A.L. games at home while Fort Hill has three here and a like number of games away from home.

LaSalle Plays PVC
LaSalle makes its football debut in the Potomac Valley Conference this year, playing Keyser, Ridgeley and West Virginia School for the Deaf here and Monroeville and Beall away. Beall was the 1960 champion with a 4-0 record.

The 1961 schedules of Cumberland schools:

Bilko Socks Homer

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (UPI)—First baseman Steve Bilko slammed a homer and a double to drive in four runs Monday and spark the Los Angeles Angels to a 9-7 victory over the Cleveland Indians here before 2550 fans.

Starter Johnny Anton, touched for a total of seven runs and eight hits in the five innings he toiled, was the loser. Five of the Angel tallies came in the opening inning.

Cards of Thanks
We wish to express our sincere thanks and appreciation to all our friends, neighbors and relatives who were so kind to us at the death of Mr. Henry John Getson. We also wish to thank those who sent floral tributes, the pallbearers and especially the Rev. John Kinn of the United Church of Christ, Corvallis, and all others who were so kind. We are more than grateful.
THE GETSON FAMILY
We wish to thank our friends and neighbors who were so kind and thoughtful during the bereavement of our beloved husband and father, James M. Hurt. We thank those who helped with the military rites, sent flowers, loaned cars, sent sympathy in many expressions, and all who helped us in so many kind ways. Signed
MRS. EDNA BURT and Daughters

Secrets Of Charm
by John Robert Powers
Some Simple Steps To Slenderness

Most of the "bulging girls" are to the floor, without letting feet or legs quite touch, the better abdomen and hips. These rolls spoil the line and effect of any Straighten legs, pushing heels up to the floor as in beginning. Last . . . lower legs slowly to floor as in beginning. Repeat five times, making circles from the right side and around to the left. . . the wider the arc and the straighter the legs—the quicker and more successful the results.

Flower Arrangement Display Opens Today
A demonstration of Ikebana, the Japanese art of flower arrangement, will be held in the National Housing Center, 1625 L Street, Washington, today, through April 9. It is open 10 a. m. to 6 p. m. weekdays and 1 to 6 Sundays.
More than 300 different arrangements, plus butterfly kites, driftwood, stripped honeysuckle, stone lanterns, garden ponds, and other paraphernalia used by Japanese homemakers to make life more pleasant for their families, will be on display, which is the Housing Center's share of Washington's Cherry Blossom Festival.
The center is being festooned with colorful mobiles and other imaginative applications of flowers in interior decoration schemes. Ten Ikebana workshops each will produce a "master's arrangement" using nests of tables at different heights in front of Japanese screens, suggesting flower arrangements for an entrance hall. A garden with a gravel pond, stone lanterns and azaleas bordering the stepping stones, are a few examples of exhibits. Another feature is a "tokonoma," the place of honor in a Japanese home. Several major schools of flower arranging will be represented. The principal styles are Nagasaki, which uses tall containers, and the Modern, which uses flowers not as flowers, but as color masses, line and motion to achieve an art theme.

710 License Tags Sold Yesterday
Yesterday 710 sets of auto license tags were sold by the Allegany County tax collector's office at the Court House.
William B. Orndorff, tax collector, said a woman who purchased tags last week was given plates with one in the DB and the other in the DA series. The numerals were 43-93 in both plates. If the person who has these tags will bring them into the tax office an effort will be made to have the correct plates issued.
The State Department of Motor Vehicles has extended the deadline for using the old tags until Monday, but the county tax collector's office will not be open Friday, Orndorff said.

Police Officer Rescues Youth From Trestle

Boy Stranded On Abutment

A 13-year-old local boy who fell into Wills Creek last night and was swept into the Potomac River, managed to climb onto an abutment of the Western Maryland Railway Company trestle, and was pulled to safety when five city policemen linked their belts together and lowered them to the boy.

Gary Davis of 226 Paca Street, wet and chilled following his harrowing experience in the swift water, was pulled to safety by Police Officer James A. Brown, who went over the side of the trestle and climbed as far as he could to reach the stranded boy. The policeman then lowered the linked belts to the boy.

Lt. Donald Smith said a call was received at police headquarters about 6:40 p. m. notifying them the boy had fallen into the creek and had been swept downstream and managed to grab the abutment and climb up it.

He said young Davis had been playing in the vicinity of Washington's cabin in Riverside Park with two other boys, Michael Griffin, 10, of 19 Water Street, and William Cottrill, 13, of 32 Greene Street.

Davis attempted to retrieve a badminton racket, fell into the creek and was swept downstream in the swift current. Police said the boy can swim and managed to get to the abutment.

His companions ran to the Chaney Trucking Company office on Howard Street and called for help from local police.

Other police on the scene were Officers Kenneth Henry, Clarence Valentine and Robert Moyer. Lt. Smith remarked that he did not see how the young boy managed to climb up the abutment of the trestle. He was taken home by two of the officers.

The city police officer noted that youngsters have been playing near the creek and warns parents to keep their children from that area.

Hardesty Says College Seeks Instructors

R. Bowen Hardesty, president of Frostburg State Teachers College, along with chairmen of various departments this week began interviewing for additional instructor positions for September.

The college president said yesterday the 15 extra instructors are being employed to care an increased enrollment which will number 1,200. The present enrollment, he said, is 1,064 students.

Applicants with doctorates for teaching positions are urged to contact Mrs. Marguerite Hughes, administrative assistant to the president.

Thirty per cent of the faculty members, he said, have doctorates, a national norm for a college the size of Frostburg State Teachers.

Many instructors were employed from liberal arts colleges and universities, where they had a rich background of experience, said the college president.

Included are those from Indiana University, Columbia University, Randolph Macon College, Goucher College, University of Kentucky, Syracuse University, Northland College, MacMurray College.

Wilkes College, University of Wisconsin, Goshen College, American University, University of Pittsburgh, Columbia College, Furman University and Alma College.

Water Tank Work Is Progressing

Rehabilitation of the Fort Hill water tank should be completed this week, Water Commissioner G. Ray Light announced yesterday.

He said crews last week drained and scraped the inside of the tank and part of the outside and that with favorable weather the job should be completed by the end of the week.

The 100,000 gallon Fort Hill tank is the last of three being reconditioned by the Valley Structural Painters under a $4,360 contract.

Conlon Drops Proposal On University Plan

Will Remain Dead Issue

ANNAPOLIS (AP)—The Frostburg State Teachers College issue will remain dead this session of the Maryland Legislature.

Delegate Thomas F. Conlon Jr. (D-Allegany), said he had changed his mind and will not move to have the bill making the college a branch of the University of Maryland petitioned out of committee.

Conlon said he found little support for his intention even among those strongly in favor of taking control of the college away from the State Board of Education.

Among those who frowned on Conlon's plan was House Speaker Perry O. Wilkinson (D-Prince George's).

"I can't ever recall a bill that was petitioned out of committee being passed," said Wilkinson.

"Besides, it is late now and the argument over Frostburg could tie us up so we would not be able to adjourn as planned Saturday night."

Agrees With Tawes
"The time to have petitioned, if it was to be done, was immediately after the Education Committee gave the bill an unfavorable report last week."

"The governor at that time said he would not push for it any more this year and I agree with him."

Del. Thomas F. Conlon Jr., D-Allegany, said Sunday he would seek 14 others to join him in petitioning the bill out of committee.

"The bill has nine sponsors plus the speaker, and their combined legislative experience is many times greater than mine," he stated.

Monday, he issued a statement saying he was not definitely determined.

"The bill has nine sponsors plus the speaker, and their combined legislative experience is many times greater than mine," he stated.

May Hurt Chances
"Some of these gentlemen may believe that petitioning this bill out and then losing it on the floor will adversely affect the chances of passing the same bill in 1962."

"I am willing to be guided by the wishes of the entire group," Wilkinson said he would talk with Conlon and if the delegate wants, call in all the other sponsors, too.

"I will tell them that I do not feel it is wise to force the issue at this time," the speaker said.

Fight Over Unemployed Payments May Be Averted

ANNAPOLIS (AP)—A Senate-House fight over tightening the unemployment compensation law apparently has been averted.

Reliable reports Monday night indicated Sen. Frederick C. Malkus, D-Dorchester, sponsor of the bill to plug "loopholes" in the law, will not ask the Senate to reject House amendments which relaxed some restrictions in his bill.

The House amended the bill last week. It comes up in the Senate Tuesday for action on the amendments.

If Malkus does move to accept the amendments, he almost certainly will also let a related bill die in the Judicial Proceedings Committee which he heads.

That bill, also sponsored by Malkus, would head off an increase scheduled for April 1 in the employer's tax which supports the unemployment compensation fund.

Malkus has said he does not think employers can afford the tax increase at this time "but unless we plug these loopholes which are draining this fund at the rate of $11.5 million a year, they're going to have to live with it."

Malkus reported he is abandoning his fight against House amendments to the jobless benefit bill because he feels the battle could prevent a drive toward orderly adjournment.

As originally approved in the Senate by one vote, the bill would restrict benefits available to workers who quit their jobs, are fired or refuse to accept suitable employment. The House amendments leave these matters at the discretion of the Director of Employment Security.

The bill increases weekly benefits from $35 to $38 but organizes labor fought it in its original form as unnecessarily restrictive.

The tax on employers is scheduled to go up to 3.9 per cent of their payroll next Saturday under a rule that rates must be raised when the fund dips below 3 per cent of last year's payroll. Malkus' bill would have lowered the floor of the fund to 2 per cent of the payroll.

Most employers now pay taxes on only 1.5 or 1.7 per cent but the rates run all the way up to 4.2 per cent for those with a heavy turnover of workers.

Local Escapee Gets Additional Jail Sentence

Washington Gets Three Months More

Raymond D. Washington, 25, of 11-G Fort Cumberland Homes, yesterday was given an additional three months in the House of Correction for escaping from a law officer to avoid prosecution.

On March 6, Washington escaped from Deputy Sheriff George B. Staup after being sentenced to the House of Correction for six months for assaulting his wife.

Yesterday's hearing was held before Magistrate F. Allan Weatherholt, who also sentenced Washington earlier this month. However, Magistrate Weatherholt ruled the additional jail term may run concurrently with the original six-month sentence.

Washington pleaded guilty at the hearing yesterday and told the court he ran away from the deputy because he was "scared" of going to jail.

The local man was arrested several days after his escape at the home of his mother, Mrs. Lillian Washington, who resides in Piedmont.

Assistant State's Attorney Donald W. Mason prosecuted the case for the state yesterday.

House Kills Plan For More Seats

One-Armed Bandit Control Plans Fail

By HERB THOMPSON

ANNAPOLIS (AP)—The House of Delegates Monday night refused for a second time to approve the administration's bill to add 21 House seats, thus killing the reapportionment measure for this session.

The vote was 73-47, one shy of the necessary majority for passage. Since it came on reconsideration of a vote by which the bill failed last Friday, it laid the issue to rest. A bill can be reconsidered only once.

The action climaxed a day in which delegates also decided to let slot machines continue operating in Southern Maryland.

The House Judiciary Committee Monday killed, with only a few dissents, two bills which would have banned the one-armed bandits in the four counties in which they're now legal.

The measures could still be petitioned to the floor by any 15 members, but in light of committee sentiment this is considered unlikely.

A separate bill to let Anne Arundel County voters decide whether to outlaw their slot machines and commercial bingo parlors has already passed the House and gone to the Senate. The two bills voted on Monday would have outlawed the machines in Charles, St. Marys and Calvert counties, as well as Anne Arundel.

The committee rejected first a bill for a statewide referendum in 1962 on whether the slots should be banned. It then turned down a substitute which called for gradual elimination of the slots by 1964 without any public vote on them.

Del. John Hanson Mitchell, D-Charles, said he and delegates from St. Marys and Calvert counties would move to exempt their counties from the bills and thus nullify them if the measures received committee approval.

He contended Charles is regulating its machines and should be given the chance to do the job locally.

Only Dels. Charles W. Woodward Jr., D-Montgomery, and Charles Coss, D - Washington, spoke in favor of the measures.

They argued the slots were a statewide problem and not a local issue for the counties to decide.

While the slot issue expired in committee, the House without a word passed to the Senate the governor's $519 million budget. Serenely also prevailed on passage of a bill giving the governor authority to name a director of the Tidewater Fisheries Commission.

Approves Transfer
The post was separated from the FC chairmanship two years ago, but the commission has not used its power to fill it. Dr. H. C. Byrd, the chairman, also has been acting as director.

The House also approved transferring the Department of Research and Education to the University of Maryland.

But it failed by one vote to give the comptroller regulatory powers over minimum prices for alcoholic beverages.

The Senate, meanwhile, passed and sent to the House a bill to require lobbyists to divulge their fees and who is employing them before talking to legislators about any proposed legislation.

The Senate enacted and sent to the governor bills to make it illegal to sell or advertise publications obscene for anyone under 18, permitting rockfish over 15 pounds by hook and line, and require humane slaughter of animals, including those butchered on farms.

LINNIE C. STIERSTORFER

Local Air Force Veteran Dies In Formosa

Master Sgt. Linnie C. Stierstorfer, 40, a veteran of over 18 years service in the Air Force, died yesterday of a heart condition in Taipei, Taiwan (Formosa).

Master Sgt. Stierstorfer was a native of Cumberland, and during World War II was a prisoner of war in Germany for 23 months.

He enlisted in the Air Force in May 1942, and was shot down over Italy in August 1943. Before going overseas in January, Sgt. Stierstorfer was stationed at Dyess Air Force Base in Abilene, Texas.

Surviving are his mother, Mrs. Minerva Stierstorfer, 132 Reynolds Street; his widow, Frances (Redman) Stierstorfer, 21 Brown Street; two sons, Linnie Jr. and Stephen, both at home; two brothers, Homer, San Jacinto, Calif., and Carl Stierstorfer, Clarkston, Mich., and a sister, Mrs. Wilson Smith, this city.

His body will be returned to Cumberland.
